ELBERT GARY DIES IN NEW YORK HOME

SOUTH ASKING SENATE PROBE OF PATRONAGE

Political Pot Already Boiling Through Demands for Investigations

AWAIT RULING ON VARE

Factional Feuds Likely to Spread on Floor of Senate Next Winter

(Copyright 1927 by Consolidated Press Association)

Washington—Ignoring the fact that the political pot already is at the boiling point, reports come to Washington that there is to be renewal of the demand for a senate investigation of federal patronage distribution.

With the situation created by President Coolidge's statement, the other elements which naturally will arise during the approaching campaign, the battle in the senate over the Vare and Smith cases and the prospects of a patronage probe in which soiled linen would be certain to be hung in the front yard, there is going to be plenty to occupy the attention of those fond of political news during the next 15 months.

Petitions asking an inquiry into specific cases of appointments to office under the federal government are being prepared by Republican factionalists of the south. Definite movements are reported from Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama.

ACTED LAST SPRING

A resolution which would have empowered a sub-committee to inquire into patronage affairs throughout the country but frankly intended to bring about particular investigation in southern states was reported last spring to the senate judiciary committee and was pending when the last congress closed in a tangle of filibustering in the upper chamber. It requires no wide strentch of the imagination to foresee that a renewal of the demand will fall upon fertile soil.

Regardless of what may be thought of the bitter factional feuds among the Republicans of the south, if the subject reaches the floor of the senate next winter, as appears practically certain, it will open debate of considerably wider scope.

During the filibuster last spring over-extending the life of the special committee which had concerned itself particularly with the elections in Pennsylvania and Illinois there was frequent reference to the primary election laws of the south, the states where the real contest are in the democratic party primaries and the general election draws only a relatively small number of voters to the poll, with heated inquiries as to why primaries in those states were not probed.

SCOPE MAY GROW

Whether the senate will be in the mood to extend its investigations into the southern primary election systems remain to be seen. Probably much will depend upon what is done in the cases of Frank L. Smith of Illinois and William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

While vigorously defending the primary election laws of their respective states, mose of the southern senators also object strenuously to any investigation by a senate committee as unnecessary and meddling. Where there are senatorial races next year, however, it is conceivable that incumbents seeking renomination might be embarrassed by opposing such an inquiry.

Reports regarding the renewal of the request for a patronage inquiry indicate the opinion that the files of the department of justice, the postoffice department and the civil service commission contain considerable information on the subject and it would not be surprising to hear that Senator Norris, as head of the judiciary committee, had asked to see these records.

GERMANS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO CROSS OCEAN

Nine Planes To Race To Honolulu Tuesday Noon

Municipal Airport, Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—The first long distance aerial derby in history, over a transoceanic course 2,400 miles out in the Pacific will get under way at noon Tuesday when nine planes will swing into the airways for Oahu, main island in the Hawaiian group.

Seventeen men and one woman—Miss Mildred Doran, 22 year old Michigan school teacher—will travel towards Wheeler field, near Honolulu, for a $25,000 first prize and a $10,000 second award, the gifts of James Dole of Hawaii.

One plane lacked official approval. The "Dallas Spirit," piloted by Captain William Erwin, distinguished war time flier, was ready for navigation test and expected to qualify before noon. The "Dallas Spirit" will be the ninth starter, eight having qualified previously.

The planes will carry nine tons of gasoline, averaging a ton of fuel to each plane. They will dash down a take off runway permitting only one plane to get into the air at a time.

Monday the airport was a stream of dust from the roar of motors going through their final paces before post time Tuesday.

Pilots and navigators were sending their wardrobes to Honolulu by steamer, for they all feel certain of landing on Wheeler field shortly after dawn Wednesday morning.

LETTERS TELL HOW CITY WILL BE ADVERTISED

Community Builders Learn Details of Civic Advertising Campaign

Members of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce are abolut to receive letters explaning in detail the plan of the campaign to advertise Appleton to its own people and the method of financing the campaign. Since the first announcement of the movement to make Appleton people better acquainted with their own city the campaign has reecived the unqualified indorsement of a large number of public leaders who are agreed that the city will receive a large benefit from the effort.

The campaign will be financed by subscriptions from Community Builders. Individuals and organizations have been placed in four groups the members of which will subscribe from 50 cents to $3 a week for 52 weeks toward the fund of $5,000 required to carry on the work. Already a large number of persons have indicated a desire to subscribe to the fund.

Direct by mail, bill board and newspaper advertising will be used to carry the message of Appleton to its people. Thousands of envelope enclosures will be delivered to community builders who will insert them in mail to Appleton people. Arrangements have been made to lease six billboards on roads leading into Appleton and 26 full page advertisements will appear in the Post-Crescent. Transfers and insignia bearing the design of the Community Builders will be given to subscribers to the fund so they can identify themselves with the movement.

The prospectus of the advertising campaign, which accompanies the letters from the office of the chamber of commerce, explains who and what the community builders are and contains three of the pages of newspaper advertising which will be used during the course of the campaign.

Thsi is what the prospectus has to say about the Community Builders:

"The Appleton Community Builders is not a new club, or a new organization formed for the purpose of holding meetings and discussing civic problems. It will have no office, no officers or directors. It will have no bylaws or charter. It is merely a name which has been suggested to identify civic leaders who sponsor this great civic and community campaign.

"An emblem or insignia which can be placed on the office and store windows of the firms and individuals sponsoring this movement will prove a ready means of identification. It is hoped that through this intensive publicity and advertising campaign Appleton Community Builders will become Appleton's best known organization. It should have hundreds of members."

The movement has the full support of the chamber of commerce and arrangements have been made for the chamber to be a clearing house of information concerning the plan Those who wish more information about the campaign can obtain it by calling the chamber.

U. S. COURT ISSUES WRIT AGAINST MINERS

Two More Alleged Rioters Arrested — Charges Against Sheriff to Be Pressed

Columbus, O.—(AP)—Simultaneously with the arrest of two more alleged mine rioters in Belmont-co Monday, the United States court here issued a temporary order restrainnig union miners from interfering with men going to work in four eastern Ohio mines.

At the same time Prosecutor Paul Waddell, Belmont-co, announced that he will carry his charges against Sheriff C. C. Hardesty to Governor Donnhey Tuesday or Wednesday. The prosecutor claims that in the midst of the mine disturbances the sheriff has been intoxicated and incapacitated for duty.

While Col. L. S. Sonnelly, Ohio National guard, continued to assist in the Belmont-co situation. He told newspapermen that he has information that union miners are picketing the courthouse and jail.

BELIEVE MAN FOUND IN RIVER SLAIN BY FOES

Baraboo—(AP)—An autopsy will be made on the body of Walter Erickson, 26, North Freedom, which was taken from the Baraboo river last week. There have been persistent rumors that the young man had been murdered by enemies who stole up on him as he was fishing on the banks of the river and that his assallants then threw the body into the stream. Special Investigator H. C. Neitzel has uncovered evidence which tends to support this theory, but further developments await the result of the autopsy which will be performed by Dr. C. H. Bunting, Madison pathologist Monday.

SIX REFRIGERATOR CARS DERAILED; MAN HURT

Rice Lake—(AP)—One man was injured when six refrigerator cars, loaded with fresh fish, were derailed in a wreck of the Duluth, Chicago, fish special on the Omaha road Monday. Conductor Fred Burton, Spooner, received a fractured rib and other injuries in the crash. A broken rail caused the cars to pile up, tearing up the track for nearly 500 feet. The engine did not leave the rails. None of the derailed cars were broken open.

BOTH PLANES FORCED BACK AFTER START

Engine Trouble Causes Europa to Land — Bremen Encounter Bad Storm

BULLETIN

London—(AP)—Reuter's Berlin correspondent quotes the Junkers firm as saying that the attempt to fly to America will be repeated as soon as the weather improves.

Dessau, Germany—(AP)—The first attempt of Germany to negotiate the west ward course of the trans-Atlantic flying lane from Europe to America came to an unsuccessful and unexpected end Monday afternoon when the German Junkers' monoplane Bremen returned to the flying field here baffled by storm and bad weather.

The Bremen landed safely after having been twenty two hours in the air bucking storms the like of which were said to have been unknown in recent aviation. The Junkers' plane came down at 4:30 Monday afternoon, German time.

RETURNS TO BREMEN

The Bremen's homeward flight was made under full power. While crossing the North sea, the Bremen encountered a terriffic electrical storm which increased in fury and compelled the fliers to give up any hope of again heading westward and to return to Dessau.

The flight to Dessau was fraught with greatest perils. At times because of the storm the plane was occasionally only six or seven feet above the ground and had to dodge obstacles that threatened to wreck her.

Although the hopes of German air conquest have been dashed for the time being, some consolation is derived from the fact that the Bremen rode storms unscathed and the pilots were lauded for keeping her in the air until she reached her home port.

The Europa in landing at Bremen Sunday night was badly damaged but Herman Koehl and Friederich Loose brought their ship the Bremen down unharmed on the Dessau airfield Monday afternoon.

The Junkers' officials had stated that, after making sure of the mechanical defects of the planes, they would take no chances with unfavorable weather, but the pilots had not progressed far over the sea when they encountered fog so thick that, according to Cornelius Edzard of the Europa, it was impossible to see the hand before the eye.

Despite these conditions, the crew of the Bremen kept on and she was thought to be well on her way across the Atlantic when first reports came of the sighting of a Junkers monoplane off the Norfolk coast of England, bound in the direction of Germany.

PLANE ALL METAL

New York—(AP)—Chiefly to prove his claim that "anything could be made out of metal" Prof. Hugo Junkers, German scientist and designer of the monoplane Bremen, combined his knowledge of metallurgy with aeronautics to perfect an all-metal, heavier than air flying machine.

Early in his experiments he settled on the idea of internal trussing of the wing. An unbraced cantilever wing is designed for greater lift range without prohibitive resistance. The wing skin, of thin-sheeted duralumni, is surrogated to withstand local stresses.

A method of working in duralumin, a special alloy which has the strength of steel and approaches the lightness of aluminum, was pefected by Prof. Junkers in 1915. The Junker plane was not used extensively during the war for air fighting but established itself on the market in 1923 as a passenger and freight transport.

TWO DETECTIVES HELD ON EXTORTION CHARGES

Hurley—(AP)—Val Jasinski and John Stephan, two private detectives of Milwaukee, are held in county jail here on charges of extortion, impersonating government officers and transportation of liquor. They stood mute in county court Monday morning and will be given a further hearing this afternoon.

WOMAN TAKES OWN LIFE AT HOME OF HER PARENTS

Milwaukee — (AP) — Mrs. H. C. Schneider, 35, Green Bay died after taking poison at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arndt, Monday. Mrs. Schneider's action was thought by relatives to have been due to ill health. She recently suffered a nervous breakdown.

NOON PAPER TOMORROW

The Appleton Post-Crescent will be issued at noon on Tuesday to permit employes of the newspaper to hold their annual picnic at Menomonie park, Oshkosh.

FORCIBLE FEEDING THREAT MOVES SACCO TO BREAK HIS FAST

Boston — (AP) — Nicola Sacco broke his fast Monday after starting upon the thirtieth day of his hunger strike by refusing breakfast. During the forenoon he took a quart of beef broth. The end of the fast came when Dr. Joseph McLaughlin, prison physician, threatened Sacco with forcible feeding if he did not eat. Mrs. Rose Sacco, wife of the condemned man, and Michael Musmanno of counsel for the defense were present.

For several days Mrs. Sacco has been urging her husband to eat but he had steadily refused. Although Sacco showed the effects of his long abstinence from food his condition was reported as fairly good.

Four years ago he went on a similar strike while in the Dedham jail but brought it to an end after having been fed forcibly.

VETOED BILLS MEAN SPECIAL SESSION

State Institutions Need Money to Operate, Governor Says

Madison—(AP)—The 1927 legislature which sang its swan song last Saturday and departed from Madison after voting a sine die adjournment may have to return to Madison within a month.

Governor Zimmerman in vetoing the large appropriation bills indicated that a special session might have to be called in the near future to provide certain institutions with enough funds to carry on their work.

This is especially true in the case of the State Board of Control. The board appropriation bill would have increased the state aid this year from $4,827,356 to $5,268,710. Governor Zimmerman in his veto message said the "increase was not altogether unreasonable" but that "some of the most needed appropriations were slighted while there were other appropriations included not as imperative at this time."

The board of control within a short time, according to information from that department, will need the appropriation for this biennial with which to continue its work.

The normal school appropriation bill, also vetoed, must be considered in the special session. This bill collected approximately a million dollars in proposed appropriations, over the recommendation of the joint finance committee, before it was finally passed.

If the special session is called by Governor Zimmerman, according to the statutes, the legislature cannot go beyond the limits of the business specially named in the proclamation, nor can it legislate upon business not named in the proclamation.

None of the legislators would be paid extra compensation in the advent of further special work, either directly or indirectly, the statutes read, except for mileage.

U. S. IMPORTS IN 1926 GREATER THAN EXPORTS

Washington—(AP)—A balance sheet of America's foreign business for 1926, issued Monday by the commerce department indicated that the nation took from abroad values greater by $509,000,000 than those exported. Not only was the "visible" trade of the country taken into consideration in compiling the statistics, but also sums involved in "invisible" trade arising from such sources as expenditures of American tourists abroad, prices paid for smuggled liquors and freight and insurance payments collected by foreign vessels in American ports.

Summing up the figures, the conclusion was reached that the United States exported "visibly" and "invisibly" in 1926 values to a total of $8,033,000,000 while imports in the same fashion were valued at $8,542,000,000. The net result of all transactions was to leave foreign balance in American banks increased by $359,000,000, notwithstanding, as Secretary Hoover explained in a foreword, that during the year the world abroad increased materially its debt to the United Sttaes.

LAKE GENEVA BOATS WIN FIRST RACE OF REGATTA

By Staff Correspondent

Neenah—Three boats entered by the Lake Geneva Yacht club won the Class C race which opened the Inland Lakes Yachting association regatta in Lake Winnebago off the Neenah shore Monday morning. The Class E race was called no contest because the boats failed to complete the nine mile course within the time limit.

There was almost a dead calm when the races started but the breeze became stronger later in the morning and there was an expectation of a strong wind for the first of the Class A races which was to start at 2:30.

Sam, No. 7, owned and skippered by Winfield Craven, won the Class C race. Second place went to Tormentor, owned by Robert Ferris, and third place by She Rolls Her Own, owned by Marquette Healy, Jr. The time was 1 hour and 49 minutes.

WEEKEND TOLL IN WISCONSIN IS 11 LIVES

Six Persons Die in Highway Accidents, and Five Are Drowned in State

(By The Associated Press.)

Ten names were added to the death toll of Wisconsin highways and waters over the weekend as accidents and drownings occurred in various parts of the state.

In addition to the fatalities, scores of persons received injuries in a series of accidents and nine of the group were regarded as being in a serious condition. Those killed in accidents:

Lester Heims, 14, Milwaukee.
Jean Stocker Murphy, 5, Kenosha.
Miss Virginia Matson, 23, Duluth Minn.
Izaacs George, 28, Marinette.
William J. Teideman, 38, Marinette.
Leo Garsombke, 72,, Milwaukee.
An unidentified man, Oshkosh.

Those who drowned:
Lester A. Goosen, 38, Milwaukee.
Maynard Hall, 13, Flint, Mich.
Floyd Stehr, 24, Racine.
Carl Emmer, Lower Clifton.

The Heims boy was killed when an automobile carrying five other boys overturned three times when it was swerved suddenly to avoid a collission. The other occupants were badly injured.

The five year old Kenosha girl met death when an automobile which became unmanageable ran her down. Miss Matson was killed in a crash between two cars.

George, a Grandson of the late U. S. Senator Izaac Stephenson and Teideman were killed when their car crashed into a pile of logs.

Goosen drowned when he went to the resue of Hall both going down while struggling. Stehr sank after being seized with a heart attack according to the coroner.

Leo Garsombke, 72, Milwaukee, drowned Sunday night in Pewaukee lake while fishing. He was alone in a boat. Another fisherman, nearby heard the splash as Garsombke fell in and summoned aid but the body was not recovered until midnight.

SENATOR'S KIN KILLED

Marinette—(AP)—Isaac S. George, 28, a wealthy Marinette resident and grandson of the late United States Senator Izaac Stephenson of this city, and William J. Teideman, 38, Marinette, general manager of the Signal Electric Co., Menominee Mich, were instantly killed and Mrs. Frank Stoppenback, 34, New Rochelle, N. Y., was seriously injured when their automobile ran into a pile of logs after leaving the highway near here about 7:30 Saturday evening.

The car was with a party of picnickers but none of the other members witnesed the accident. It is believed that George, who was driving, apparently took to the railroad track which runs parallel to the highway, when two other cars attempted to pass on a narrow point. When once on the track he is believed to have lost control of the machine and it ran into the log pile.

Mrs. Stoppenbach was rushed to St. Lukes hospital at Chicago Saturday night, and her condition was reported as favorable Monday morning, although serious.

BOY SOUND ASLEEP IN CAR TAKEN BY THIEVES

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Driven away unawares by a motor thief as he slept Sunday night on the rear seat of a sedan, Ben Wilson, six years old, was found four hours later, still asleep in the abandoned car at Prospect, Ky. He was brought to his home in Louisville by county police. The boy said he had not awakened during the ride and he was unable to tell anything about his abductors.

MAGNATE DIES

Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel corporation, who died early Monday morning at his home in New York city, after an illness of about a month.

REFORESTATION ON KIWANIS PROGRAM

Johns Recommends Conservation as Activity at Racine Convention

Racine—(AP)—J. L. Johns, Appleton, district governor, in his recommendations to the ninth annual convention if the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis clubs here Monday included reforestration and conservation as activities for Kiwanis International. He cited the fact that there had been a large increase in membership in this district the past year and thanked the Associated Press and other news agencies for the publicity given. "Superior is making a determined fight for the next convention." The attendance is the largest in years, each of the 55 clubs in the district being represented. New Members to the number of 80, in addition to that of the seven new clubs added, were reported.

There were 12 simultaneous conferences Monday forenoon after which the regular morning session of the convention was called to order by Mr. Johns.

Mayor William H. Armstrong delivered the address of welcome after which Sherman Blandin presented the convention program.

AUSTRALIAN BUILDING IS WRECKED BY BLAST

Brisbane, Queensland, Australia—(AP)—The offices of the criminal investigation department were wrecked by an explosion at midnight. The roar aroused the whole city. The roof was blown off and fragments of wreckage were hurled long distances. A detective was severely injured.

London—(AP)—A despatch from Melbourne to the Exchange Telegraph company, telling of the explosion at Brisbane, says fire followed the detonation. The explosion is attributed to a criminal bomb outrage, believed intended to destroy crime records and exhibits, many of which were damaged.

GARY DEATH HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON STEEL STOCK

New York—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary's death caused only a temporary flurry of selling on the New York Stock exchange, which already had undergone a drastic downward readjustment of quoted values as a result of a failure on the collapse of several pools last week. U. S. Steel common opened unchanged at 131¾. The stock sold down to 130¼, but it had recovered all of its loss before noon.

MAGNATE WAS IN ILL HEALTH ABOUT MONTH

Steel Corporation Chairman, 80, Reported Recovering Week Before Death

BUILT BIG CORPORATION

Began Merging Steel Companies as Attorney in 1898 to Compete Abroad

New York—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel corporation, died at his home at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Reports of Mr. Gary's death first began to circulate in the Wall Street district in the middle of the morning. Confirmation was not immediately available at the offices of the U. S. Steel corporation, but when reporters went to the Gary home on Fifth-ave an employe of the household made the bare announcement that Mr. Gary had died at 4 o'clock. He said all further details would be given out in a statement at the steel corporation later.

It was stated that the cause of Mr. Gary's death was chronic myocarditis. He had been in ill health for about a month. At the offices of the steel corporation the exact time of death was placed at 3:40 Monday morning. Beyond that bare announcement it was said no details would be available until some time during the afternoon.

REPORTED RECOVERING

On July 25 Mr. Gary who at the time had been ill for about a week was reported on "the mend" and it was said at that time that he would return to his office within a few days.

One of Mr. Gary's last public acts was on June 16 whe nby passing his hand over an electrically sensitised mechanism he set in operation the gigantic electrified homestead steel plant at Pittsburg.

To perform this operation he sat in his office at 71 Broadway and the feat involved building up a minute quantity of energy released from his hand into great enough electrical strength to control the operation of the steel plant.

The home where Mr. Gary died is uptown on Fifth-ave. from the famous Gary mansion at 956 Fifth-ave, said to be one of the finest residences in New York which is now in process of demolition. The Gary mansion contained a marble staircase valued at $150,000. Because the contractor tearing down the mansion estimated that it would cost the full value of the great staircase to remove it, it was offered for sale for $1 to anyone who would take it away.

RUMORED RESIGNATION

Ever since Mr. Gary passed his eightieth birthday anniversary rumors of his impending resignation as chairman of the steel corporation have been recurrent. Time after time rumors which appeared to be based on authentic information have been circulated only to be proven baseless.

The general belief that Mr. Gary was considering resigning became more pronounced after the last meeting of the steel corporations stockholders an April 19, when remarks he made at that time were construed as valedictory.

On Feb. 25 last Mr. Gary celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his incumbency as an executive officer of the corporation. F. A. Sites, Mr. Gary's secretary, said that a statement would be issued at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

MET TWO PROBLEMS

As head of the great United States Steel corporation, Elbert H. Gary constantly was confronted with two problems of the most vital importance to the two directly opposite groups of people concerned in them. One was the successful direction of the huge business organization with assets of nearly $2,000,000,000 and involving the investments of thousands of persons; the other, the human consideration of the more than 300,000 employes of the steel corporation and its subsidiary companies. That he was eminently successful in dealing with both problems from the standpoint of employer and employe was proved by the tributes that were paid to him by the leading men of the industrial world who made up the steel corporation, and those who worked in the ranks of its various companies.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES TRYING TO CATCH RIDE

Oshkosh—(AP)—An unidentified man, apparently an Indian, died at a hospital here Saturday evening as a result of injuries sustained when he was struck by a southbound passenger train as he attempted to catch a ride on a northbound passenger on an adjacent track at a city crossing 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A slip of paper bearing the name and address, George Huff, 82 E. Juneau-ave, was found in his pocket. An effort is being made to trace the man to Juneau-ave, Milwaukee, as he carried other papers from that city.

71 Contribute Flowers For Sick In Two Hospitals

Another splendid showing was made by generous readers of the Post-Crescent on Saturday when about 71 persons contributed flowers to be distributed to patients in St. Elizabeth hospital and Riverview sanatorium. It was a beautiful collection of flowers and the variety was as large as the number of givers.

The cars will go out again next Saturday on their weekly trips to collect happiness for the bed-ridden in the hospitals. If you will have flowers to give to the sick leave your name and address with The Post-Crescent. Just call the telephone operator and the Flower Car drivers will do the rest.

Modern Weapons Crush Hope For Inca Empire

La Paz, Bolivia —(AP)— Dreams of a new inca empire reported to be the goal of the Indian uprising in various parts of Bolivia, appeared to be fading Monday as troops equipped with the white man's war devices were bearing down upon the rebellious hordes.

A whole division of soldiers has been brought into action and the government claims to have succeeded in pacifying certain sections. When the remainder of the troops detailed to the campaign reach their destinations the government contends the situation should be brought under control quickly.

In the failure of the Indians in the department of La Paz to join the movement the Incas have lost their principal hope for success and "if there is truth in the government's claim that the danger of a rising in La Paz is over then the disillusioned natives will be obliged to resume their menial labors as virtual slaves to the white inhabitants.

Clubs and slingshots are proving inadequate arms for the restoration of Inca power, pitted against the rifles, bayonets and machine guns and the Indians now are making a pitiful defense. No further reports of deaths among the warriors have been given out here and it is generally conceded that in order to put a quick halt to the movement the troops must necessarily inflict heavy losses.

Placing the blame for the trouble entirely on communist agitators, the government declares that after a recent plot to overthrow the government, these agitators incited the Indians to bring about restoration of the lost glory of the Inca empire.

In Lapaz city the Indians are going about their usual duties. The white population is showing no signs of alarm.

9,000 JAM PARK AT KAUKAUNA FOR BIG FARMERS' OUTING

Agriculturist Urged to Co-operate to Get Better Prices for Their Products

Kaukauna—Between nine and ten thousand people attended the big farmer picnic held at La Follette park on Sunday. An official count of automobiles parked at and near the park at 3 o'clock in the afternoon totaled about 2,000, Mayor W. C. Sullivan said.

The picnic was sponsored by the Wisconsin Grange, the Wisconsin Cheese Producer's Federation and the Neenah and Kaukauna Livestock Shipping associations.

Mayor Sullivan opened the afternoon's program wkith an address of welcome. "In behalf of the city of Kaukauna I wish to extend to all of our visitors a most hearty welcome," he said, "We want you to know and to feel that you are in a friendly city, a city of hospitality. A city picturesque and historically famed for its scenic beauty. You have selected as a site for your picnic one of the most beautiful natural parks in the valley. The generous Lord has selected fine weather for the occasion. I am here in behalf of the city of Kaukauna to assure that we will strain every effort to do all within our power to help you have a rip, roaring time even though it may be necessary to turn the town up side down and inside out."

"I want to congratulate the different farm groups or organizations in coming together to hold a joint picnic. This is a real cooperative picnic, cooperation applied to sociability and entertainment. Now if it is possible and practical for the farmers to join hands and work together, ten thousand strong, such as you have assembled here to day, all for the purpose of a good time, why under the sun don't you join hands and come together to transact business and make a decent living.

"Mark well what I say, agriculture in America will either rise or fall on that issue. Every farmer in the broad land should belong to at least one of the farm groups. Most of the farmers should belong to all of them. Not until that hour strikes will we see the real emancipation of the American farmer. If this republic of ours is to survive and escape the hideous European system of landlord and tenant, its farmers must organize. Not for class legislation, not for a subsidy, not for more credit or for the privilege of more cheap money, not for greater production but for higher prices for what is already being produced. The farmer must organize to control the commodities that he produces. He must organize to control his surplus. He must store his surplus along some cooperative plan so that he will be in a position to market it in a business like and orderly manner. Just so long as he permits the food gambler to store the small surplus and then use that surplus to beat down the price of the entire crop below the cost of production, based on a decent, respectable living wage. Just so long will the farmer play the part of the slaves and serfs while the food gamblers take the role of lord and master.

"This is a vital and far reaching American problem in which interests other than the farmers are at stake. It concerns every dollar of capital invested under the stars and stripes. There is no more striking example of the success of cooperative marketing than that which we find in the success of the Wisconsin Cheese Producer's Federation. Just about fifteen years ago a lone dreamer surrounded by a small group of loyal, sturdy farmers, found this organization. Henry Krumrey, the founder, now peacefully slumbers beneath the green sod in the city of Plymouth but his good work goes marching on. Long live the memory of Henry Krumrey. Long live his ideals and the good work for which he lived, fought and died. Long live the Wisconsin Cheese Producer's Federation. May they continue to grow and expand until every pound of cheese in this state will be controlled and sold under some cooperative plan.

"When that time arives the full dream of Henry Krumrey will have been realized. I am informed that a movement is on foot, sponsored by the federation, to raise some funds to erect a memorial slate in honor of Mr. Krumrey. That is most beautiful sentiment and should receive liberal support from every one.

"I cannot let this opportunity go without saying a word in the interest of the equity live stock shipping associations. They market their stock on the cooperative plan and are having marvelous success."

Herman Ihde of Neenah, grand master of the Wisconsin State Grange, replied to the address of welcome by the mayor. "Farm organizations ask for no special favors from any one, all they ask is for a square deal and prices that would give everyone working on the farm a decent living wage," he said. "Relief will come to the farmers though organization in a national way so that each local can be backed up by the national organization in marketing farm produce. There is no other plan whereby America's basic industry can be made to survive except through organization and cooperative marketing. The Grange, one of the oldest farm organizations in America is out to save agriculture, not alone for the farmer but the entire American nation."

The third and last speaker on the day's program was B. E. Billington of Wausau, field man for the Wisconsin Cheese Producer's Federation. Mr. Billington also devoted a part of his talk to urging the farmers to join hands and cooperate so that every farmer might have "a reasonable living wage, the same as any other American laborer." Mr. Billington emphasized the fact that the cheese industry was second to none and that it was larger than even the automobile industry. "If all the milk produced in one year," Mr. Billington said," were placed in ten thousand gallon railroad cars, the cars would go one and one-half times around the world. If placed in eight gallon cans the milk would span the world eighteen times and still this country is not producing enough dairy products for its own use. Each year finds it necessary to buy abroad."

Along with the interesting talks given by the three prominent men were many varied types of games for men, women and children. Prizes were awarded the winners of each game.

The hard ball game scheduled between the Zion Grange and the South Greenville Grange was forfeited to Zion when the Greenville team refused to play on the park diamond because of the large crowd.

The parade held Sunday morning was the largest ever seen in Kaukauna. It took forty minutes for the cars in the parede to pass one point. It was estimated that there were about thirty floats and over two hundred cars in the parade. Charles Grode, of the town of Kaukauna and Herman Ihde of Neenah, led the parade and were followed by the Legion color guard, the Kaukauna Moose band, the Kaukauna fire department and a large number of floats and prettily decorated cars.

First, second and third prizes were given by the business men of Kaukauna to the winners in over forty contests. In the pig calling contest, eight herdsmen participated. Fred Hart won first prize, A. W. Armstrong, second prize and Hans Peterson third prize.

For shipping the most livestock through a farmer's cooperative organization in 1926, L. E. Olson, Larson, won first place with a record of shipping $2,369 worth through the Larson Shipping Association.

For hauling the most milk to a cheese federation in 1926, Ernest Helderman, Neenah, won the first prize with a record of 226,000 pounds.

For being the oldest cheese maker in point of continuous service and being still on the job, Charles Martin, Neenah, route 2, won first place with a record of twenty-seven years in the Maple Leaf Factory.

The Allensville Grange mens' quartette won first place in the vocal music contest and a ladies' quartette from the same grange won first place in another contest.

In a mouth organ contest, Alvin Marsch, Allensville Grange won first place, Hans Rosenthal, second place and Hans Peterson, third place.

In the tug of war between teams from Neenah and Kaukauna, the result was declared a draw.

For having the largest family present at the picnic, Louis Cowling, Allensville Grange won first place with nine children, William Deno, Sherwood, second place with nine on the grounds and three at home, and Chester Vosberg, Allensville Grange third place with eight children.

In the pillow casing contest, Margaret Shingler, Neenah, won first place, Mrs. William Barker, Harrison Star Grange, won third place, Mrs. Earl Winkenwerder, Zion Grange, fourth place and Mrs. Frank Tische, fifth place.

The lady that won first place for coming the longest distance to the picnic was Mrs. W. H. Worthington, Battle Creek, Mich.

R. A. Morey, Neenah, won first place for being the oldest man at the picnic.

As a clog dancer, Nelson Destin won first place, Orville Jense, Kaukauna, second place, and John Heideman, Appleton, third place.

Lawrence Bauram, Neenah, won first place for measuring six feet, six and one-half inches in height.

Joe Zink, Kaukauna, acted as announcer from the platform and Charles Grode and Gust Sell managed the contests.

In addition to the people of Kaukauna generally, those most responsible for the marked success of the picnic were, Herman Ihde, chairman, Robert Amundson, assistant chairman, Kaukauna Shipping Association, in charge of refreshments, Sunny Corners' grange in charge of concessions, Robert Amundson, Mayor Sullivan and Kaukauna Police Department in charge of parade, Charles Grode, Kaukauna, Gust Sell, Oshkosh, in charge of amusements, Herman Ihde, Louis Zink and A. P. Kaschke, in charge of platform, and the Kaukauna Band.

Members of the Harrison Star Grange who won prizes in the Fellowship contest were Mrs. Peter Deizen, Mrs. Fred Knorr, Mrs. George Schaefer, Mrs. Michael Meckl, Mrs. A. P. Kaschke, Mrs. Martin VanderVelden, Mrs. George Wirtz, Mrs. George Schwalbach, Mrs. Walter Burkhardt and Mrs. Andrew Berthelsen. Mr. Peterson and Mrs. Martin Vanderveiden won prizes in the running race for women and the male prizes were won by Clifton Warren, Martin VanderVelden and Nick Fox.

VOLLEYBALLERS ATTACK THILMANY BALL OUTFIT

Kaukauna—The revamped Volleyballers will attack the strong Thilmany crew in a soft ball game at the municipal playgrounds Monday evening. The Sports have won the last two games in the final round of the season's schedule, trimming Mulfords and the Bankers. Another fracas that will be worthwhile seeing will be between the Electricians and the Postals on Wednesday evening. The rivalry is intense between these two teams.

This week's schedule:

Monday, Aug. 15, Thilmany vs. Volleyballers.

Tuesday, Aug. 16, Homans vs. Andrews Oils.

Wednesday, Aug. 17, Electricians vs. Postals.

Thursday, Aug. 18, Mulfords vs. Bankers.

YOUTH IS DROWNED IN LAKE WINNEBAGO WHILE TAKING SWIM

Carl Emmer Believed to Be Victim of Cramp — Body Recovered Monday Morning

Special to Post-Crescent

Sherwood—Carl Emmer, 19-year-old son of Joseph Emmer, of Lower Chilton, was drowned in Lake Winnebago at about 3:45 Sunday afternoon, when he dived from a boat into about 6½ feet of water. Emmer was swimming with John Parish about 300 feet from shore off a line pier at Lower Clifton when the tragedy occurred. His body was recovered at about 8 o'clock Monday morning, after citizens worked the greater part of the night from boats. The position of one hand above his head indicated that he was seized with camps at the time of the tragedy.

Those who recovered the body, which was found near the place where it sank, were Gustav Meyer, Otto Schmelling, George Mielke and John Huss and William Klawitter. Barbed wire was used and caught the clothing of the victim. Dragnets, procured from Stockbridge, also were used in the search.

Emmer is survived by his father and one sister, Gladys.

CUBS TAKE BALLGAME FROM BRILLION TEAM

Mereness Pitches Excellent Game to Whip Villagers by 14 to 7 Score

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Y. M. C. A., Cubs treated the Maple Grove ball team to a 14 to 7 beating at Maple Grove Sunday afternoon. The villagers were helpless against the superb twirling of Mereness who struck out 12 of them and didn't issue one free pass, while the opposing pitchers, Huson and Hilles, were striking out 10 and issuing walks to the same number of men. Mereness allowed only 5 hits. Husson pitched a fine game until the final innings when he blew up and the Cub runners started pouring across home plate. The villagers held the lead up until the first half of the eighth inning when four runs came in and Hilles was rushed in a vain attempt to save the game. Four more in the final inning clinched the game for the Cubs.

Fourteen hits together with ten walks and four errors by the opposition were enough to give the Cubs their fourteen runs.

Kaukauna started in the first inning to win the game when Smith clouted one over the fence scoring Mereness ahead of him. The home team kept pace with the Electric City gang when Hilles drove out a long home run in the last half of the first inning after Buck and Blaser had each scored. Beier clouted out the third and final home run of the game for the only score made in the second inning and both teams went down in rotation in the third and fourth. Maple Grove opened up with more fireworks in the fifth when Buck, Blaser and Pauly scored on good hits. The sixth was another quiet inning. At this stage of the game it seemed that the Kawmen were going to suffer their second defeat of the season but things were different in the Kaw half of the seventh. Dix singled and scored on a hit by Mereness. Smith hit and Mereness and Smith came home on Vils long drive. In the home team's half, the Grovemen forged to the front again when Pauly scored on Hilles' triple. That was the end of the scoring for Maple Grove. Husson blew up in the next inning and four runs came in and then the Cubs duplicated its efforts in the ninth.

CHILTON RESIDENTS IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car of Arthur Mortimor Family Turns Turtle While Returning from Dells

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mortimer and two children narrowly escaped serious injury on Thursday evening when their sedan turned turtle on the road at Calumet Harbor. The party was returning from a trip to the Dells, and the driver of the car, Walter Mortimer, became blinded by the lights of the many cars which they met. The car left the road, demolished three of the highway signs, and turned completely over. None of the occupants of the car was injured, but two of the fenders of the car were smashed.

The Rev. Samuel Ruegg, formerly of the Congregational church of Clintonville, has accepted the call to the pulpit of the Plymouth Congregational church of Madison. He will take charge of his new church Sept. 1. The Rev. Mr. Ruegg is very well known in this city, having formerly been located in Stockbridge, and he preached occasionally in churches in Chilton, and visited here many times.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Morrissey returned Thursday from a week's trip to Madison, the Dells, and Milwaukee. They were accompanied home by their son Donald, who has been attending the summer session of the university of Wisconsin.

Wanted—a pitcher!

That described the situation Sunday over at the Neenah ball park, where Appleton's team of the Fox River Valley league was defeated by the home squad, 18-5, dropping the game under a bombardment of 22 safeties, including a triple and four doubles. Sternagle opened the game and he left almost as quickly as he stepped onto the field for five straight hits off his delivery netted the Larsen crew four runs with no outs. Crowe took his place and before the frame was over, three more scores came across. Crowe's slowball proved eary for Neenah the rest of the game and was hit plenty the rest of the way.

Appleton played good ball, though getting to Nixon for only eight safeties and with fair hurling would have made it a real battle. For Neenah Nixon got four hits, including two doubles, and Gullickson had four including a double. Every man on the Larsen squad got at least two safeties. Son Tornow came out of his slump to lead the local batters with three hits, including a double, in five bats. Ashman had two hits, in two bats, including a double, and Brautigam showed a few of the youngsters how to hit with two blows in five trips up.

Nixon fanned nine batters but issued seven walks, hit a batter and uncorked a pair of wild heaves. Neenah made one double play, and Appleton pulled off three, all great pieces of infield work, at times when help was needed.

CALIFORNIA TEAMS GO 600,000 MILES

U. C. Slogan Is "Be an Athlete at California and See the World"

BY BOB MATHERNE

That might serve well as a slogan for that school to use as propaganda to interest high school youngsters in enrolling, inasmuch as six teams representing California journeyed more than 600,000 miles to fill schedules this past year.

No matter what big sport event was taking place in the east, one or more Bear athletes were in it. They were represented at three national competitive meets this year—tennis, track and golf, and also sent a crew east for the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Their mileage for travel probably soared highest because of the trip the baseball team made to Japan. This trip alone, figuring approximately 11,000 miles per man, amounted to 214,000 miles.

Fred C. Thomson, one of the most versatile athletes ever at Nebraska, will be in charge of track at Arkansas this year. He will also assist in football. Thomson was a three-letter man at Nebraska, and, since his graduation has been coaching with success athletic teams for a high school in that state.

Two of the new grid coaches breaking in southern circles this year are Johnny Hancock and Ray Dauber, both Iowa men, who will be together at Mississippi A. and M. Both served on championship teams at Iowa, Hancock having been an All-American tackle there in 1924. Hancock is leaving Colorado State Teachers' college and Dauber, Western Reserve university. Hancock is a former Superior high star.

Loss of "Big Ed" Morrison, quarterback, has upset West Virginia grid aspirations this year. Morrison, against his express desires, was elected captain last year to assure his returning to school but he won't come back.

Everybody tries especially hard to beat a champion. Virginia Poly knows that quite well, and she's champion of her state in football, track, and baseball. The only sad part of her three championships is that she will be doubly pressed in every game against state teams this coming collegiate year to keep from being beaten too often.

Two Merriams will be connected with Penn athletic teams next season, one as a coach, the other as a freshman candidate. William S. Merriam, the father, will coach the swimming and water polo teams, and his son will enter Penn as a freshman and seek berths on the swimming and golf teams.

Red Chapman Still Has Chance To Be Champion

BY JIMMY POWERS

New York—The long, long trail has finally come to an end for Red Chapman—maybe.

If ever one fighter has had to face the alternate heights of supreme joy and darkest despair it has been this earnest, good-natured, serious-eyed young nosebuster from Boston.

All his life he has yearned to be a champion. Long, hard hours he spent perspiring in dank gymnasiums, puffing, tugging, punching, grunting, taking punishing blows, depriving himself of soft foods and softer life, just to attain the blue toga.

Twice he was matched with the current king, Louis "Kid" Kaplan. Twice the enemy ran out on him. Only a month ago this writer came across him. His face was wreathed in smiles. He was clipping a punching bag right merrily, the rat-tat-tat of the leather and wood singing a gay tune that echoed in the camp rafters.

"Gonna get my shot now," he grinned. "It's Honey-Boy Finnegan."

But that too faded like the rest.

Now the New York Boxing Commission has taken a hand and shifted the clutch that started its ponderous gears into action. A new featherweight champion will be crowned on the night of Sept. 7 at Ebbets Field here, the commission has decreed, when one Anthony Canzoneri of New York and our old pal, Chapman, of the Boston Chapmans, engage in 15 rounds of fisticuffs.

The commission has duly deposed that after all is said and done the winner will positively be made featherweight champion.

Even the august commission has finally come of the opinion that the young man is willing to make any sacrifice to prove his ability.

Chapman and Benny Bass met at Madison Square Garden last winter in an elimination bout. Bass, who is seriously addicted to recurring tummy-aches, fell to the floor in the second round and hollered all sorts of things, among which the word "foul" appeared in anguished succession. He has since refused to meet Mr. Chapman again.

Johnny Dundee, former champion, applied for permission to box Chapman who was willing to recognize the veteran's claim on the title and accept a small percentage. When the time came to sign the papers, Dundee changed his mind.

The commission wanted Bass to go in against Chapman for the title but Mr. Bass had another bad tummy-ache at the time and refused. So Canzoneri took him on.

Canzoneri fills all requirements. He is one of the best junior feathers in the ring today and only recently hooked up twice in Chicago with Bud Taylor for the bantam title. Canzoneri can still make 118 pounds (he says) and hopes to get Taylor again next winter over the 15-round mark in New York. Meanwhile he is getting heavier.

If Canzoneri beats Chapman he says he will confine his boxing to the featherweight class if he cannot get another crack at Taylor.

WANTA PASS?

NAOMA LEWENSOHN

She knows her fight game, this Miss Naoma Lewensohn, secrearty to Tex Rickard, and if you don't believe us, try to get a pass from her to the Tunney-Dempsey fight in Chicago. She's in the Windy City now to take care of more than a million dollars in receipts involving sale of 150,000 tickets to the fight.

TEX EXPECTS NEW RECORD IN CROWDS

Promoter Prepares for 160,000 Fight Fans and $3,000,000 Total Gate

Chicago—(AP)—A new all-time record for prize fight crowds and purses loomed before Tex Rickard and his aides Monday as they settled down to the big business of getting everything ready for the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Soldier Field, Sept. 22.

After Rickard had announced that his final plans for the fight now indicate a total gate of nearly $3,000,000 with a gross attendance of some 160,000, Jack Dempsey boarded a train from Hollywood and headed for Chicago with his wife and a party of his training camp helpers.

Rickard and Leo P. Flinn, the manager of Dempsey, arrived Sunday to join Billy Gibson, manager of Champion Gene Tunney.

Seats for more than one-third of the anticipated crowd of around 160,000 must be built within the arena, and this project, Rickard said, was his greatest problem. The managers, with training camps already chosen, only await the arrival of their proteges to get down to work.

PLANS FOR FIELD HOUSE ARE NOT ENDED BY VETO

Madison—(AP)—Plans for the erection of a field house as a new athletic home at the University of Wisconsin will still "go on" notwithstanding the veto of the bill by Governor Zimmerman, which would have appropriated state aid, George Little director of athletics at the university said today.

"We can't be stopped by a veto," Mr. Little said. "We have to get this project put through sometime and we will keep on with what funds we have at present. Of course the veto was a great disappointment but we can't allow that to slow us up too much.

"We are now rearranging our plans and if you will give us a little time we will be able to report progress."

18-DAY HORSE MEETING AT FAMOUS OLD TRACK

FRANKIE GENARO WANTS FLYWEIGHT TITLE BACK

New York—(AP)—Frankie Genaro, ex-flyweight champion, will strive to scale the Pugilists heights of his division once more. His new manager, Joe Jacobs, said Monday that he would appear before the state boxing commission Tuesday and ask that Genaro be recognized as flyweight champion of the world in view of the reports that Fidel LaBarba had vacated the title.

APPLETON SQUAD LOSES LONG GAME

Locals Drop 5-4 11-inning Battle to Wausau Despite Four Homeruns

Four homeruns by Appleton batters failed to stem the tide Saturday afternoon when all of the four-ply swats came with the sacks unpopulated and the local Valley league squad lost a 5-4 game to the strong Wausau Lumberjacks at Wausau in 11 innings. Reffke limited Wausau to nine safeties and the Appleton crew was able only to garner the same number, including the four homeruns which were peculiar because not a man was ahead of any one. One man on the bases on a single circuit swat would have meant the game for Appleton.

Schultz and Brautigam were missing from the local lineup. Van Wyck, center gardner, was shifted to shortstop, and Crowe, a hurler, tried third base. Hillman and Furminger filled in with Baetz in the outfield. Baetz and Tornow got Appleton hits on in the first but neither scored. Wausau scored first in the third frame when two came over, but in the fourth Tornow and Van Wyck, successive batters, each pounded out long homers to knot the count. Baetz added one in the fifth and Tornow his second in the sixth for a 4-2 score for Appleton. Tornow's drive was the longest seen at Wausau for several years in spite of the fact that many star sluggers have played there.

Four hits including a homerun with a man on base by Lennie Zelinski, former Menasha Valley loop star, tied the count in the last of the sixth and both hurlers showed airtight ball in the next four frames. In the eleventh Shore doubled with two down and coasted home with the winning run on Muench's long drive.

The Wausau lineup included several former Valley league stars, Rabbit Russell, Muench and Zelinske of Menasha and Eddie Stack, former Appleton hurler. Stack opposed Reffke. Ulrich, former Brewer paddist, handled Stack's slants.

Muench, Wire and Shore had two hits each for Wausau and Zelinske added his homer. For Appleton Baetz had there hits, Van Wyck two and Tornow three in five trips to the plate and a walk. Each of the men homered also.

The Lumberjacks won a 3 to 1 victory over Merrill Sunday, although held to four hits by Trier, one a homerun by Brandt. The other two runs were due to errors. Zieser of Wausau scattered eleven hits.

YOUNG JOCKEY LEADS AT LINCOLN CONTESTS

Chicago—(AP)—The 95-pounds of Lee "Longshot" Hardy, 18-year-old apprentice jockey, booted home most of the winners at the 30-day Lincoln Fields Race season which just closed, to continue his phase of American jockey honors. The young jockey rode 27 winners, leading the pack of more than a 100 Jockeys, who rode during the Lincolns Field season.

Hardy gained wide recognition during the meeting at Homewood when he rode "Blue Blood" to win a prize of 365 on a $2 ticket, the longest shot ever to win in Illinois.

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE WOODS

McNally, naturally hot-headed and pugnacious, leaped up, full of fight. But Jack kept his head, as usual. "Easy, Tom!" he warned, grasping his friend's arm. "We can't afford to resist the law." Elam Frye laughed sneeringly. "You bet ye can't!" he said, leering at them. "But what ye've done a'ready's goin' to land the whole caboodle of ye in jail for a long stop."

So the front of the tent was closed, and the fire was carefully put out before Lockwill and his chums started for town in custody of the officers.

Half the inhabitants of Woodlands, three miles from the camping place, saw the young prisoners taken into the lock-up from which Tony Arato had escaped.

Jack asked the sheriff how soon they would be brought up for trial. "Just as soon as the judge decides to hear the case," was the answer. "He's working in his garden this forenoon, and I don't know when he'll feel like stopping." Then he went out, locking the door with a huge key. "Well, this is a fine finish for our camping trip!" groaned Darling, dropping down on an old stool.

NEW LONDON MAYOR WELCOMES LEAGUE TO YEARLY MEETING

Wendlandt Urges Several Hundred Delegates to Follow Great Americans

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Speaking to an audience composed of several hundreds of Walther league delegates assembled in this city for the largest convention ever held here, Mayor E. W. Wendtland on Saturday evening formally welcomed the young people in an address on Patriotism. Using three of America's foremost and most loved figures, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln as examples of Christianity, Mr. Wendtland said:

"Assuming that you as a body wish to function properly, that you wish to show to the world a standard which is an embodiment of law and honor, leadership and reverence for God, you must know, too, that the same standards these men had in founding this government must be your own. It is up to you for the sake of the sacrifice that they made, for the faith they had not only in church, God and themselves, that you go even farther, that you will be Americans for America. They were Christians and they live today because they were imbued with a Christian spirit." Speaking of the ideals of the league Mr. Wendtland closed his address with a plea for good citizenship.

HAVE MUSIC PROGRAM

Community singing was led by Prof. H. W. Schields, and accompanied by the New London band. A number of overtures by the band were interspersed with quartet numbers by the A. L. L. quartet, composed of H. W. Schields, Melvin Wolfrath, Arthur Bunke and Henry Ploetz. Rev. Adolph Spiering of the Emanuel Lutehran church, New London, spoke informally to the assemblage and the reception was brought to a close by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Sunday's sessions of the second convention day were well attended. Delegates began arriving early to attend the morning church service.

An afternoon church service with special speakers was followed by the annual election of officers and a banquet for all league members, which was served in the church dining room. The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of the Mount Olive church of Appleton acted as toastmaster, and responces were made by Elmer Ross, Stevens Point; the Rev. Mr. Keiper, Granton; Arlando Hoffman, Rankin; Ruth Kohlhoff, Merrill; William Chellow, Hubbel, Mich.; Hertha Block, Wausau; Irene Rotermund, Wisconsin Rapids; Walter Schultz, Cadott; Viola Kraft, Menominee; Leonard Schneider, Luxemburg; Esther Schultz, Colby; Zelta Krenz, Wausau; Percy Rieman, Eau Claire; Elmer Seipel, Eau Claire; Harold Radloff, Wausau; Regina Schatz, Ashland; Harold Helbick, Anitgo; Harold Rusch, Merrill; Ralph Ziegenbein, Hancock, Mich.

PICNIC ENDS LESSION

Monday's picnic for all leaguers at the Waupaca Chain of Lakes ended the convention, but the fact that fully fifty of the young people have made reservations at Camp Cleghorn for the program of recreation, amusement and lectures will make the event one which will extend until the end of the week. Camp Cleghorn has been taken over by the Synodical conference and special speakers have been secured for the period. Perhaps the lectures which will interest young Lutherans most will be those by Prof. H. D. Mensing, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who will speak on What Makes the Walther League Worth While. The Rev. H. L. Meyers, of Wilmette, Ill., and Rev. A. J. Beversdorff, Milwaukee, also will speak. H. W. Schaars, Milwaukee, will be recreational director and his program of nature study, hikes, athletics and social events will add to the interest of the week in camp. About twenty New London leaguers will attend.

PROFESSIONAL COMES TO NEW LONDON CLUB

Organization Secures Services of George Carney for Rest of Season

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The New London Golf club has secured the services of George Carney, professional golf player, recently of the Glen Acres Country club of Chicago. He will arrive next Saturday and registration is now taking place for lessons under his tutorage. Mr. Carney has recently been at the Waupaca golf course and has also appeared in professional matches at the Appleton course. He is highly recommended by Paul C. Loeber, former president of the Chicago District Golf association and by A. L. Packard, golf editor of the Saturday Evening Post. In speaking of Mr. Carney, Mr. Packard saws:

"George Carney is teaching a golf stroke and grip which among other advantages absolutely prevents a slice. Four average players having trouble with wooden shots were asked to try the Carney shots and immediately improved their game."

So enthusiastic was Mr. Packard that he ran several pictures in his columns showing the Carney grip, stance and swing. Golfers who are interested in what Mr. Carney has to teach are asked to register at either the Trayser Drug store or at the William Stofer harness shop.

MISS AMY POLLEY WEDS EX-KAUKAUNA H. S. COACH

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The marriage of Miss Amy Polley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Polley-Quincey-st. to William Henry Smith, son of Mrs. Charles Smith of Wisconsin Rapids, occurred at 8 o'clock Friday evening at St. John Episcopal church, the Rev. F. S. Dayton reading the service. Beatrice Polley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Charles Holmes of Marinette was best man. Mrs. McCreedy, a friend of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," while the wedding party made its entrance. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Kloehn, Appleton. The bride was given away by her father, Polley Hartquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hartquist and a niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. Only immediate members of both families were present for the service and for the dinner which was served following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left at once for a wedding trip after which they will be at home in Milwaukee.

The bride is a graduate of Lawrence conservatory of music and has won unusual notice because of her remarkable voice. The bridegroom is also of Lawrence college, having been athletic coach in the Kaukauna high schools last year. He will serve in that capacity in the West Division high school of Milwaukee during the coming year.

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The Menasha Dodgers defeated the local Booster team, 15 to 3, Sunday afternoon at the local diamond. Beach, the Menasha pitcher, proved too much for the locals while his teammates kept piling up a safe lead for him. The batteries were: Menasha—Beach and Ralleigh; New London—Krueger and Quandt.

TO BURY ACCIDENT VICTIM IN BLACK CREEK CEMETERY

Special to Post-Crescent

Black Creek—Funeral services for Maynard Pantzlaff, who was electrocuted between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday morning while working on lines of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. near Tustin, will be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of his parents, 722 W. Sping-st, Appleton, and at 2 o'clock at St. John church in this village. The Rev. Paul Beecken will conduct the services. Mr. Pantzloff was working on a transformer, and apparently threw up his arm, striking a live wire, when he lost his balance while on a pole.

Mr. Pantzloff married Mis Marvellan Neuman, Briarton, Feb. 26, 1926. The family moved to Appleton last week. He is survived by his widow, a six-week-old son, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pantzlaff, a sister, Mrs. Lillian Johnson, Oshkosh, and a grandfather, Joseph Blake, Black Creek. Burial will be made at the parish cemetery at Black Creek.

COMPLETE WORK ON NEW CITY ARMORY

Acoustics of Building Made Perfect by Padding of Ceiling, Other Improvements

Special to Post-Crescent

Clintonville—Hailed as a community asset when it was constructed six years ago, the local armory finally has reached the position it was first intended for—that of a gathering place large enough to accommodate an audience of as great a size as would be developed here, and an auditorium with perfect acoustics.

When it was first constructed, the armory was found to have such poor acoustics that it was almost worthless as a place in which to hold any sort of a program. However, during the past week the ceilings have been padded in accordance with the latest discoveries induced by radio inventions and Jerome Sullivan of Madison, in charge of the work, has given assurance that hereafter the auditorium can take the place for which it was intended.

Manager Art Stenbock has scheduleded the All-Star Ranger Girls base ball team to play the local nine on Monday afternoon, August 22.

You Don't Have To Take Our Word

Let those who own Wayne Oil Burners tell you about them. Here is just one of the many letters that we have received from satisfied customers.

Appleton, Wis.
June 30th, 1927.

The Wayne Co.,
Fort Wayne,
Indiana.

Dear Sirs:—

I take pleasure in writing you in regard to the Wayne Oil Burner installed in my home at 704 S. Pierce Ave., two years ago.

Since making this installation we have experienced the pleasure of a uniformly even temperature in our home, which we did not dream of in the old coal burning days. We would not consider a return to coal firing, even if we were paying additional, for the convenience, cleanliness and freedom from worry and care, in addition to the satisfaction of uniform heat, which cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

My experience during the past two years has shown that I am saving approximately Eighty ($80.00) Dollars per season by using the Wayne Oil Burner instead of burning Pocohontas coal.

Very Truly Yours,

AJ/LK Signed
Arthur W. Jones

Takes the "static" out of buying

THERE'S a peculiar bug sweeping over the world today that has already sunk its teeth into millions.

ITS name is Radio.

NO one is immune. If it hasn't bitten you yet, your time will come. For some months you will lie absolutely helpless in its power. You may later recover from its effects sufficiently to go about your daily tasks and attend to your social duties, but you will never fully recover.

THE experience is indescribably delightful and the pleasure never-ending—if— There's quite an "if" in radio.

WE repeat, the pleasure is never-ending, if you get a good radio receiver and good accessories.

AND you overcome the "if" by careful reading of radio advertising. Like everything else, good radio sets and accessories are the advertised ones. It doesn't pay to advertise the worthless.

ADVERTISING will help you in radio as it helps you in selecting intrinsic value in everything else. You can rest assured that anything which is continuously advertised, whether it be a radio set or a can of asparagus, has stood the test.

Let the light of advertising show you the right road to radio Satisfaction. Read advertising regularly.

Blind Woman, Travelling Alone, Sees Beauty Of Different Sort In Europe

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Cleveland, O.—The only person in the world who has every really seen Raphael's Sistine Madonna is a blind woman, "an old maid singing teacher," who has never seen sun or moon or any loved face since she was a six-months-old baby.

This is the verdict of an old guide in the Dresden gallery where the tenderest of all madonnas dwells. He guided the hand of the blind woman over the immortal canvas as she told him what she saw; awed, he told the guides to keep silent, and bade all the visitors be still while a blind woman told them what the madonna was.

Miss Almeda C. Adams, totally blind, "saw" the madonna when on a year's tour of Europe utterly unaccompanied. All alone, she traveled thousands of miles, trusting to passers-by for any necessary help.

HAD NO TROUBLE

She brings home with her not only a memory of honors never before given any human being, but also a strong faith in humanity.

In 12 months of wanderings in strange lands and among strange tongues, she had never had one second of danger, she says, and very few disagreeable experiences.

There was the time when, in a hotel of Rome, her sensitive fingers found too much dust and dirt about her pension room and she decided to leave.

The proprietor forbade any servant to help her find her way down three flights of stairs and out of the pension.

"I was too American to stand that," says Miss Davis, giggling at the memory," so I threw a bluff. I started out by myself, knowing that I did not have the slightest idea where the door was. That frightened them, as they knew they would get into trouble if I fell. They almost pushed me into the street and insisted that I give them 100 lire for their trouble. I had intended to give them something reasonable, but that maddened me. I had nothing smaller than 100 lire in change, however; and I started prowling about looking for a wine shop or someplace where I could change it. It's a wonder I wasn't robbed of all I had, but I wasn't."

BLIND AS CHILD

The year's travel trip alone was to Miss Adams just a taken-for-granted thing.

When she was only a baby her mother asked her to bring her a dish towel.

"I can't," she told her mother.

"Why not?" asked her mother.

"'Cause I'se blind."

A smart cuff on the ear followed and her mother said:

"Don't you ever again let me hear you say that you're blind or that you can't do anything that anyone and everyone else can do. Ytou're not blind and the world owes you nothing. You owe the world a double amount of service yourself."

And the little girl never again was afraid, sorry for herself, or willing to admit that she couldn't "do everything that everyone else can do."

BLESSED BY POPE

But other people did not take this spectacle of a blind woman wandering over a strange country so much for granted.

The Pope himself pronounced a special blessing upon her, placing his hands upon her head, praying "that for the blind one God may enlighten her sight."

It was the Pope himself who gave a special order that everything in the Vatican, including the choicest treasures, be presented for her touch.

Blind Miss Adams did not miss a single thrill.

She descended into the catacombs with her flickering war taper while other women screamed and turned back.

"They were gruesome and black," she says. "But I loved the experience."

She climbed Mt. Blanc, roped to a guide and thrilling at the view.

She has a smile for the memory of the cemetery of the Cappucini where the monks' bones make chandeliers and vases and frescoed walls.

"It is as if they were laughing at death," she says—"as if they knew their mere bones didn't matter and as if they were having a roguish time at seeing their bones used in this queer way."

TRIP IN AIRPLANE

She flew from Paris to London and back again.

No memory so lives as this, perhaps—

"The view wsa superb!" the blind woman says.

She climbed the 560 steps to the top of Milan cathedral, clinging to a hand rail along the narrow steep flight.

She wandered through the Paris shops, buying the things any woman loves.

"Seeing" to this blind woman is an extra sense which we with sight cannot quite understand.

"Perhaps if I ever saw in the normal sense I would know that I had never 'seen' before at all," she says, "but it does me very well."

It's a matter of concentration, she says. She approaches "seeing" much as a mathematician would approach his problem.

"I perhaps see more beautiful things than I would with real sight," she says, "for I can eliminate all the ugly things."

Her trip to Europe was beautiful, wonderful, but—

"I'm not whining! I've had more than I deserve, but I'd give the rest of my life for just one day of sight in Florence or Rome."

"EVERYONE WAS SO KIND"

Miss Almeda C. Adams, blind woman who spent a year touring Europe unattended.

ARTILLERY BAND WINS NEW PLAUDITS AT GUARDS CAMP

Regular Army Officers Shower Praise on Crack Musical Organization

Complimented by prominent military men as an organization that would do credit to a city the size of Chicago, the 120th Field Artillery band returned Saturday afternoon from another successful encampment at Camp McCoy at Sparta. The local bandsmen were in great demand for concerts and their excellence won them many plaudits wherever they entertained.

Because the band took two day's off to play at the state Elk convention at Wausau, it made only one other outside trip, a concert in Sparta. LaCrosse, Tomah, and other cities sent invitations but all were turned down. At Wausau the organization won a silver trophy as the best band there.

The highest praise for the musicians came the first Tuesday after the camp opened. Captain Berry, post adjutant of the 114th field artillery of the regular army invited the men to play at the reception for General Summerall, chief of staff of the United States Army, who visited the camp. The band was well received at the reception and at noon it played a special concert for the regulars and the general. After this concert General Lassiter of the Sixth corps area called the band "a credit to a city he size of Chicago" and "in a class w : Sousa's band."

Playing at Sparta the band drew the largest crowd ever at a concert there and was invited to play again the following week.

Three organizations, the Hotel Sidney at Sparta, the state home for dependent children and the 114th regulars entertained the men with chicken dinners in appreciation of the concert.

In softball the band had one of the best teams in camp, defeating the 120th regiment champions. However, because of the nightly concerts, the men could not play in the camp championship series.

The band started a busy program immediately after its return here. Sunday afternoon and evening it played to a record crowd at Brillion as a feature of the annual Brillion firemans picnic. On Aug. 23, 24 and 25 the band will play at the Seymour fair.

Tuesday evening the band men will play the homecoming concert at Erb park in the Sixth ward. The concert will be featured by selections from the opera Faust. Miss Dora Efflin, contralto, will be the soloist.

FARMER AWARDED $564 FROM SUGAR COMPANY

Edward Bergemann of Black Creek Monday was awarded damages of $564.10 and court costs in an action against the Menominee River Sugar Co., according to a judgment of Judge Berg in municipal court.

Bergemann alleged that he had contracted with the sugar company to plant beets on seven and one half acres of his land, in 1926, which was to be used as an experimental plat. The beets were planted late, the complaint alleged, and the company was to furnish help for topping the beets. This the company failed to do and, the complaint alleges, the beets were frozen before help could be secured to top them.

The defendant did not appear in court and the judgment was by default.

7,000 AT DEDICATION OF INDIAN TOTEM POLE

More than 7,000 persons attended the dedication of a totem pole recently erected at the state park in Door-co. Congressman George J. Schneider was one of the speakers. The pole was accepted on behalf of the state by J. C. Icks, recently appointed to the state conservation commission.

Chief Simon Kahquados was present in his full ceremonial costume and with a woman member of the tribe sang "America" in the Indian language. The chief is 76 years of age. The tribe's headquarters now are at Laona in Forrest-co. The Indians are under the jurisdiction of the Lac du Flambeau Indian agency.

WOMAN LEGISLATOR IS NATIVE OF MENASHA

Madison—(AP)—The 58th session of the Wisconsin legislature, which passed into history last Saturday at noon, adjourned on the motion of its only woman member, Miss Helen Thompson, assembly representative from Price-co.

Price-co sent Miss Thompson to the legisltaure with a margin of 26 votes over her opponent. She ran on the Republican ticket.

The woman legislative member was born at Menasha and has been a teacher, hotel keeper, owner and manager. For fifteen years she has been a member of the school board of Park Falls, her home town. She has been on the election board for four years, and a jury commisssioner for three years.

She held four committee appointments during this session. She was chairman of the committee on engrossed bills, and a member of the committee on rules, public affairs and education.

Three resolutions were introduced by Miss Thompson since January 12. The only bill she sponsored was one providing a tax for cigarets and cosmetic preparations. It failed in the senate by a large vote, after being recommended for passage by the committee on state affairs.

DIVIDED ESTATE

Menasha—Final judgment has been rendered in the estate of Lydia M. Jackson of Menasha. A residue of $4,655.50 will be divided between three children and one grandchild.

COUNCIL MEETING

Menasha—The common council will hold a mid-monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the city hall. An adjourned meeting will be held Wednesday evening, Aug. 24, at which bids will be opened for the new filtration building and for the new sewer on Paris-st.

SACCO COMMITTEE ENLISTS SYMPATHY OF U. W. PRESIDENT

Boston—(AP)—Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin and Felix Adler, head of the Ethical Culture society in New York, have agreed to join the citizen's national committee for Sacco and Vanzetti in urging federal investigation and the opening of department of justice files in connection with the noted case, the committee announced Sunday night.

The telegram of acceptance from Glenn Frank made public by the committee read:

"I want to do everything I can to insure the consideration of every atom of evidence in this case. So I shall gladly join in urging this release of information in federal files."

UGLY DRUNK SENT TO JAIL FOR THIRTY DAYS

George Pampa of Grand Chute was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Monday morning by Judge Berg of municipal court, on a charge of drunkenness. The severe sentence was meted out by the court because Pampa, while in a drunken condition Sunday, threatened his family.

CALL FIREMEN WHEN THEY SEE DENSE SMOKE

Anxiety of passersby Sunday morning resulted in the fire department making a run to Hopfensperger's market, 418-420 W. College-ave. Workmen burning out the flues failed to notify the fire department and the flames and smoke issuing from the chimney gave the impression that the building was on fire.

DEATHS

MRS. JOHN DIEKVOSS

Mrs. John Diekvoss, 70, died Sunday afternoon at her home at Forest Junction, following a brief illness. She was born Jely 31, 1857, at Rockland, Wis., where she lived with her parents until her marriage in 1877. With exception of two years all her married life was spent at Forest Junction. She celebrated her golden wedding anniversary last January. She is survived by her widower and the following children: Mrs. Ira Loeffer, Laura, Ida, Martin and William Diekvoss, all of Forest Junction; the Rev. H. C. Diekvoss of Denmark, and the Rev. B. J. Diekvoss of Arcadia. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

FERDINAND KOLETZKE

Ferdinand Koletzke died at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at his home 217 E. College-ave. He was born in Wundego, Germany on Nov. 27, 1857 and came to this country in 1882. He was married in 1883 to Miss Alvina Wegner. In 1885 he engaged in the picture framing and musical instrument business from which he retired about three years.

The survivors are his widow and two sons, Max and Paul of Appleton; three daughters, Mrs. E. C. Leddy of Menasha, Mrs. J. T. Shipley of Oshkosh and Mrs. W. ELBERT H. GARY DIES AT HOME IN NEW YORK nual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute at New York in October, 1919. The steel strike had been in progress several weeks and the steel men, nearly 1,600 of them, had gathered to hear what Mr. Gary had to say. His entrance into the gathering was the signal for a remarkable demonstration. These staid, solid business men, catching sight of the leader of their industry, broke into a spontaneous salvo of cheers, which were continued several minutes.

ELIMINATED 12-HOUR DAY

During the years he was head of the steel corporation Mr. Gary negotiated and consummated many important matters, but perhaps the one that gave the greatest measure of satisfaction to the country generally was the elimination of the 12-hour day in the steel industry. Mr. Gary had been in favor of this move a long time and it was before the board of directors many times.

The rise of Mr. Gary to be the chief executive officer of the United States Steel Corporation — he was chairman of the executive committee and later of the board of directors and of the finance committee—may be said to have been due to an incident in the practice of law, for which he was educated. In 1898 as general counsel for and a director of the Illinois Steel company, he was called upon to take charge of the organization of the Federal Steel Company, a merger of the Illinois and other companies. It was he who first suggested the amalgamation and it was here for the first time he was brought in touch with the late J. Pierpont Morgan, whose financial assistance was being sought in the formation of the new company. Gary's business ability so impressed Mr. Morgan and his associates that they insisted upon Mr. Gary being made president of the Federal Steel Company.

WANTED COMPETING COMPANY

Gary wanted to have a steel company that could compete with Germany and Great Britain, which were dominating the international market Mr. Morgan finally decided to give his backing to the formation of a giant steel merger along the lines Gary had proposed. With the organization of the United States Steel Corporation the business created by Mr Garnegie was purchased in 1901 for $492,006,160, and in all 10 large companies were taken into the merger with a combined capital of $867,550,394. It was the biggest undertaking in the industrial world and the financial world gasped when the corporation announced its plans for an authorized capital of $1,100,000,000 in stock and $304,000,000 in bonds. Charles M. Schwab became president and Mr. Gary chairman of the executive committee.

The great corporation under Mr. Gary's direction grew apace until it became a dominant factor in the steel trade of the world with 36 foreign offices and 136 distributors in 44 foreign countries. Its ships sailed the seven seas. Everything about the corporation—property holdings, output, money invested, dividends—grew to such an extent that the United States Steel Corporation came to be regarded as greater than anything that had even been imagined in the industrial world. At a hearing before a congressional committee in Washington Mr. Gary was quoted as saying that the assets of the corporation could not be duplicated for $2,200,000,000.

Elbert Henry Gary was born on his father's farm near Wheaton, Ill., and was descended from old New England stock on one side, his father, Erastus Gary, having sprung from the hardy Puritans who settled Massachusetts. His mother, Abiah Vallette Gary, was a descendant of one of the officers in the army of LaFayette and fought with him for the freedom of the American colonies. He was educated in the public schools. Wheaton College and the University of Chicago.

He was admitted to the bar of Illinois in 1876 and to the bar of the United States Supreme Court in 1882. His home town early recognized his ability as a leader and for three terms its citizens elected him president of the town of Wheaton. Then when the place became a city he was chosen as its first mayor and re-elected for a second term. Mr. Gary also served two terms as county judge of Dupage county, Illinois. It was from this office that he derived the title of judge and was familiarly called Judge Gary ever after.

Chicago—(AP)—The body of Judge E. H. Gary will be brought to Chicago, Wednesday for burial near his old home in Wheaton, Ill. His two daughters, Mrs. Robert W. Campbell, wife of the chairman of the board of trustees of Northwestern university, and Mrs. Gertrude Sutcliffe of Chicago, are at the Campbell home in Evanston, seat of Northwestern university.

SCHNEIDER WORKS FOR BILL TO CHANGE CONTROL OF INDIAN

Congressman Thinks State and Not Federal Government Should Have Jurisdiction

George J. Schneider, member of congress, left Monday for Madison to attend a conference on the proposed plan to turn over the responsibility of the education and medical care of the Indians in Wisconsin to the state. The plan embodied in the La Follette-Cooper bill to be taken up at the next session of Congress will be discussad.

Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, has expressed himself in favor of the plan which would bring the work under the department of education, the board of control and the department of health of the state. Those expected at the conference besides Congressman Schneider are Senator Robert M. La Follette and Congressman Henry Allen Cooper, joint authors of the bill, and a representative of the federal government from the departmnet of the interior.

In the proopsed plan, the educational welfare and health of the Indians is delegated to the state to afford closer contact on the part of the people really interested in helping the Indian, Mr. Schneider said. They will be in a position to give better service because of closer proximity to the problems of the Indians.

Much criticism has been made of the way in which the federal government has managed Indian affairs and it is true that the Indian has been neglected, the congressman explained. Pressure has had to be brought to bear on authorities to give to the Indians what they needed, even though Congress has always appropriated money for the work.

The state should assume the responsibility of the care of the Indian because he is a citizen of the state, the congressman believed. This plan would tend to make the Indian a worthy, intelligent and healthy citizen and would be accomplished by giving him a white man's education through the state's bureau of education. The state would be compensated financially by being given the money ordinarily appropriated by congress and now being used through the Bureau of Indian Affoirs.

WIFE DESERTER GETS TWO YEAR SENTENCE

Van Bommell's "Hide and Seek" Game Earns Stiff Penalty in Court

Anton Van Bommel, alias Johnson, was sentenced Monday by Judge Berg to spend two years at hard labor for failure to support his wife and two infant children.

Van Bommel was returned to Appleton Aug. 5 by Deputy Sheriff Walter Scherck from Milbank, S. D., where he had been arrested. The search for Van Bommel started soon after he deserted his family in March, and led to all parts of the United States and abroad.

Monday morning, however, there no longer was any fun in the "game" he had been puaying. He stood up in municipal court and was told by Judge Berg that for two years he would be in the custody of the sheriff and during that time he is to work at hard day labor, and all the money he earns is to go toward the support of his wife and children.

WISCONSIN GUARD WINS PRAISE FROM MAC NIDER

Madison—(AP)—Col. Hanford Mac Nider, acting secretary of war, in an official dispatch from Washington to Ralph M. Immell, Adjutant General of Wisconsin complimented the Wisconsin National Guard as "one of the finest."

"In fact, I do not believe I have ever been in a fined camp of that nature—and you are to be congratulated not only upon the camp itself but on the way in which it is apparently administered.

"Congratulations to you and to your officers on the splendid condition of the Wisconsin National Guard."

MENASHA MAN'S CAR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire Saturday night totally destroyed a sedan belonging to Fred J. Krueger, 221 Water-st, Menasha, on the Neenah-Menasha road.

Mr. Krueger was returning to his home with some groceries at 9:30 Saturday night when his engine caught fire and the flames spread rapidly to the body of the car. Krueger had no fire extinguisher and the car was ablaze before a call for help could be placed.

FOUR BOATHOUSES AND TWO PERSONS BURNED BY BLAST

Explosion of Gasoline in Motorboat Causes Sunday Morning Fire

Two people suffered painful burns, and damage estimated to around $5,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed four boathouses on the Fox river, off S. Pierce-ave about 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

A party of six young people was about to start on a Sunday jaunt on Lake Winnebago when a short circuit in The Argosy, a 32-foot cruiser operated by Herbert Brock, set fire to the carburetor, which exploded. The explosion sprayed flaming gasoline over the engine and boat and Brock and Miss Viola Buss, one of the members of the party, were burned. Brock's burns were on the side of his face and on his right arm, while Miss Buss was burned on one leg. Both were taken to their homes.

The flames leaped from The Argosy to an adjacent boathouse where a boat 32-foot open Spare Time, owned by Earl Lemoyne, was housed. It was destroyed, as was a small boat with an outboard motor, in the third of a group of boat houses. There were two boats in the fourth boathouse, belonging to Rudolph Forster, and Harry Powers, but persons watching the fire pushed them out into the river where they were retriever.

Each of the four boathouses was valued at about $150. Only one of the houses, that in which the fire started and which was occupied by W. H. Priest, was insured.

A large motorboat, housed between two of the houses which were burned, was saved by pushing it out into the river.

The Argosy was owned by four men, Walter Kline, Orville Minster, Lawrence Kempf, and H. Hunniman.

Owners of the four boathouses destroyed in the fire and members of the yacht club, now are planning a modern, community boathouse which will house six boats.

The fire department answered a second call to the Priest boat house at about 3:30 Sunday afternoon. It is believed that a spark from the morning blaze lodged in a pile of bedding at the opposite end of the house from where the morning fire occurred and after smouldering for many hours burst into flames.

Markets

STOCK MARKET SHOWS UPWARD MOVEMENTS

Recovery Occurs in Spite of Lack of Bullish News Over Weekend

New York—(AP)—The stock market showed further recovery at the opening of Monday's gains ranging from 1 to 2 points in several instances. Manhattan Electrical Supply quickly sold up 2 points and General Motors, Dupont Mathiason, Southern Railway, Delaware and Hudson and others 1 to 1¾. Wright Aeronautical reflected enthusiasm for aviation aroused by the flight toward America of the German plane Bremen.

The recovery was not predicated on any bullish news over the weekend for there was none. There were some furthr pessimistic comments on the outlook for the corn crop and the boll weevil situation but the market at first took no account of them. The rise was apparently due to fundamentals underlying the market such as the abundance of even money and predictions of expanding industry.

Foreign exchange opened steady with demand sterling quoted around $4.85⅝ and French francs above 3.91 cents.

The numerous selling which started on the announcement of the death of Elbert H. Gary, drove U. S. Cast Iron Pipe down 7 and DuPont, A. M. Byers, General Railway Signal, Union Carbide, Houston Oil and Case Threshing Machine, 3 to 3½. The list showed unmistakable signs of the distribution of supporting orders, and most of the 1½earers retraced their course to their course to their early high figures. U. S. Steel, after slipping to 130½, rebounded to 131⅞. The renewal rate for standing loans was maintained at 3½ per cent.

SEND WRECK TESTIMONY IN INTERSTATE GROUP

Milwaukee—(AP)—With testimony completed in the inquiry as to what caused the wreck of a fast Milwaukee road mail train near Sturtevant Friday, transcripts will be sent to the Interstate Commerce committee at Washington, it was announced Monday.

According to reports, responsibility for the wreck in which two trainmen lost their lives, has narrowed down to four men. The mail train was derailed when it ran in to an open switch, witnesses testified. An employe set the switch against the train, it was said.

MENASHA BATTERS PATTON'S SHOOTS TO TROUNCE KAWS

New Kaukauna Hurler Unable to Hold Pail Sluggers; Score, 9 to 6

Kaukauna—Les Smith and his war-club tried their best to bring the Kaukauna baseball team out of the cellar Sunday at the Electric City park but it was again proved that a few of the Kaws must help Les accomplish that job. Lefty Patton, where he gets the name Lefty is a mystery to most of the fans because he tossed them Sunday with his right, was picked Smith to hold Menasha at bay. Lefty retired in the seventh when the going became hard and Gertz succeeded him. The score for the afternoon was Menasha 9, Kaukauna 6.

For Menasha, Zanefski was in the box and pitched good enough ball to hold Kaukauna at a respectable distance. He allowed eight hits but most of them were well scattered and three bases on balls were offset by four strikeouts. Powell, Menasha's pitcher-thirdbaseman-catcher was behind the log and caught a creditable game.

Menasha started the scoring in the second inning when a walk, a sacrifice hit and a double by Levandoski permitted George Weisgerber to score. A double play by Kaukauna to Sager ended a third inning rally for Menasha and the Kaws then took the lead in the run column. With one man out Wenzel worked Zanefski for a walk and stole second. Les Smith was then up and after waving his bat at a bad ball clouted the next one over the right field wall.

Patton ran into plenty of trouble in the Menasha half of the fifth inning when he lost the location of the plate and walked Joe Weisgerber and Levandoski, the first two men to face him. All hands were safe and the bases loaded when Patton went deeper into the wire by tossing wide to third base in an attempt to get Weisgerber on his brother John's bunt. Julius Weisgerber struck out but when Al Omar singled and Smith walloped a three bagger to clean the bases and then trotted home on Powell's single, five runs had crossed the plate and the Kaws were behind 6 and 1.

The Kaws recovered two of those runs in their half of the sixth when Les Smith was purposely passed. He went to second when Omar dropped Stegeman's high fly, and advanced to third on E. Sager's sacrifice to score with Stegeman on Phillip's single through first base. A double play at that stage, Julius Weisgerber to Joe Weisgerber, ended the uprising.

The seventh inning saw three more runs and the departure of Patton. John Weisgerber singled, stole second and scored when his brother Julius doubled. Al Omar hit to Gertz at short and all hands were safe when he threw low to first. Powell scored Omar and Julius Weisgerber with a double to left. Gertz relieved Patton and ended the inning by striking out the next two batters.

Kaukauna scored two more runs in the eighth when Stegeman singled, advanced on E. Sager's sacrifice and scored with Phillips on B. Sager's double through third base.

CUBS INVADE EAST WITH 5-GAME LEAD

McCarthy's Crew Meets Dodgers, Braves, Phils, Giants, Bucs, Reds

After a home stand that netted 13 victories in 17 games played, the Chicago Cubs were enroute east Monday on an invasion of enemy camps, the success of which probably will determine to a large extent the fate of the National League leaders. Joe McCarthy's hustling outfit is scheduled to meet Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh, and Cincinnati in order before returning to Chicago, Sept. 4.

The Cubs made a clean sweep of the three-game series with Cincinnati by winning Sunday's game, 7-2.

By defeating Philadelphia, 3-1, the Giants pulled up to within one game of the third place Cardinals.

Ray Kremer's airtight pitching was too much for the Cards and Pittsburg strengthened its hold on second place with a 5-1 victory.

Brooklyn failed to end its losing streak and returned home to take a 5-0 beating at the hands of Kent Greenfield and the Boston Braves. Three home runs spelled the downfall of Jess Petty, the Robin southpaw, Hogan, Welsh and Fournier hitting for the circuit.

The New York Yanks chalked up another on the Senators, 6-2. Ruth and Gehrig failed to increase their homerun record.

Detroit made it five in a row over St. Louis, the Browns being nosed out by a 5-4 margin.

The White Sox finally broke their losing streak by knocking off the Cleveland Indians 7-3.

Showing Of Cubs Tribute To M'Carthy's Ability

BY BILLY EVANS

If the Chicago Cubs should win the National League pennant, the victory would be a well deserved tribute to the uncanny ability of Manager Joe McCarthy.

The manager in baseball is a negative quantity unless the material is there. He cannot think for the regulars on the field, neither can he supply base hits in a pinch nor keep the opposition from hitting the ball.

I regard Bill Carrigan as one of the smartest leaders that ever directed a major league ball club. Yet, in charge of the Red Sox this year, a team with limited material, Carrigan has been unable to make much progress. His team is destined to finish in the cellar.

However, there is no denying the fact that certain managers can get better results than others, working with the same material.

Perusing the box scores of the Chicago Cubs daily and getting a chance to see them in action every now and then, I am firm in the belief that the managerial direction of Joe McCarthy is one of the biggest factors in the remarkable success that the team has enjoyed this year.

When Mr. McCarthy was named as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the season of 1926, he brought with him to the National League great fame as a minor league pilot. But to the veteran players and managers of the organization, he was simply a "busher," who had to prove his worth as a big leaguer.

McCarthy didn't have much to enthuse over when he took charge, aside from pretty good pitching and catching. His infield, outside of Adams at second base, was nothing to brag of. He had hardly got settled in his new position when he was called upon to make a decision that undoubtedly had much to do with shaping his career as manager of the Cubs.

McCarthy and his star pitcher, Grover Cleveland Alexander, just couldn't agree on what constituted proper discipline on the part of a veteran player. As a result of this digerence of opinion, McCarthy surprised the baseball world by peddling Alexander to the St. Louis Cardinals. It took a manager who had the courage of his convictions to make such a drastic move. That's the kind of a guy McCarthy is.

The shift of Alexander to St. Louis had a beneficial effect in both directions. His fine pitching was the outstanding factor in the winning of the pennant and world championship by the St. Louis Cardinals. As for the Cubs, McCarthy let it be known that he was manager and would brook no insubordination. That set him with the rest of the team.

McCarthy is a dynamic personality. He has initiative and aggressiveness, with which he combines an excellent inside knowledge of the game. You can see the spirit of McCarthy in the actions of every player in the Cub lineup.

In his first year in the majors with limited material, McCarthy had his club in fourth place at the finish, just seven games behind the pennant-winning Cardinals. The team was never lower than fifth, which can be said of no other team in the race last year. The champion Cardinals at one time were sixth.

This year, by adding a bit of strength here and there and putting over a deal that brought to him Pitcher Carlson of the Phillies, McCarthy has welded together a fast-stepping confident club that doesn't look so snappy on paper, but goes well on the field.

BAYMEN TAKE LONG GAME FROM COOKES

Green Sox Take Fourth Win of Season Over Leaders in 12 Frames, 3-2

Kimberly—Green Bay and Kimberly fought 12 innings here Saturday for a 3-2 victory for the Green Sox, in a Fox River Valley League game. Good base stealing, coupled with several costly errors for the K. C.'s gave the Bays the victory.

It was the fourth meeting of the league leaders and the second place squad, and just as many times the Baymen have been on the long end of the score, although all victories with the exception of one, were wins by a one run margin. The game was a reminder of one last season, also in August, when the two squads battled seventeen frames to a win for the locals.

Kimberly started the scoring in the first session, when, with one down, M. Lamers doubled to left and R. Smith strolled to first. T. Lamers singled to center field, and M. Lamers came in while his brother went to second, and Smith to third. Pocan fanned and L. Thein hit out to the first baseman, ending the inning.

Both sides went scoreless until the fourth when Clusman, first man up, tied the score by dropping the pill over the right field fence. Loeffler hit a grounder to left and made third when Lewellen hit to left for two bases. Becker hit to the second baseman and Kerkoff to the first, and Loeffler was tagged out at the plate.

The Bays took the lead in the fifth when E. Becker singled to left stole second; reached third on Clark's single to center field and scored when Hartjes dropped the ball.

In the sixth, Len Smith doubled to left and came in on "Ossie" Cooke's grounder to center field while Cooke reached second.

Neither side scored, although both threatened several times, in the seventh, eighth, or ninth frames, and the game stretched out to three extra sessions.

In Green Bay's half of the eleventh, Clusman nearly knocked another homer, but Ray Smith made a brilliant catch, picking the pill off the left field fence.

In the twelfth, Kerkoff singled to center, and because of a bad ankle, was allowed a runner who stole second and third, and second on a catcher's error. Cooke started things going in Kimberly's half by hitting to right for a three bagger. Then Schell and H. Thein, batting for Hartjes, fanned and Vander Loop hit to the shortstop, ending a would-be rally.

GEHRIG MAY SET NEW HOMER RECORD

Battle for Honors Between Lou, Babe May Push Youngster to Mark

BY BILLY EVANS

With the New York Yankees far out in front, the most interesting feature of the American League race at present, is the hectic struggle being waged between Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig for the home run championship.

What are Gehrig's chances to beat Ruth to the honor?

Is there a possibility that either of the two will beat Ruth's record of 59 home runs made in 1921?

Should Gehrig assume a big lead over Ruth within the next month, would it affect Ruth's play in general and also that of the Yankees?

How much truth is there to the oft made statement that as Ruth goes, so go the Yankees?

How does the public and players view the struggle between the pretender for the crown and the king?

These are just a few of the questions, inspired by the battle between Ruth and Gehrig, that have been fired at me recently. Here is my angle on the various queries.

Unquestionably Gehrig has an excellent chance to beat the Babe for the home run championship of 1927. However, I won't believe it has actually happened until I see it in figures.

Ruth has the habit of rising to the occasion and I am sure he will not go down to defeat without putting up a titanic struggle. Don't count the Babe out until the curtain has been rung down.

Gehrig has been far more successful on the Yankee Stadium than Ruth this year. Since a majority of the remaining games of the New York Americans are at home, this is a decided advantage to Gehrig.

I doubt if either Ruth or Gehrig come even close to Breaking Ruth's record of 59. It strikes me that 50 home runs will come mighty close to winning the swat championship of 1927.

Ruth's 59 home runs made in 1921 is one of the few baseball records that should remain unbroken through many years. It has a good chance of holding up as long as the game is played under present conditions.

There are some who believe that if Gehrig takes a commanding lead over Ruth, making it seem certain there is no chance to overtake him, the Babe will become careless.

While such a thing is a possibility, should Gehrig get a lead of from five to 10 home runs, I don't look for such a situation, simply because I do not believe he will ever get that far away from Ruth.

Granting he does, also that Ruth's play suffers because of carelessness, there is no doubt but that it will seriously handicap the Yankees. There is much truth in the saying that as Ruth goes, so go the Yankees.

However, Ruth likes his baseball so well that I am inclined to think intuition would cause him to put forth his best effort, regardless of how strong Gehrig is going.

The public is unquestionably with Gehrig. The underdog always has the sympathy and best wishes of common people. And while Gehrig is just as popular with the players as Ruth, it is my thought most of them would prefere to see Ruth finish in front.

Their motive is purely a selfish one. They know what a great magnet Ruth is at the gate and Gehrig's drawing power as the home run king would remain to be established. Babe and his home runs have boosted salaries for every one connected with the game.

I feel the American League Home Run Derby is going to prove a whale of a battle between the game's premier sluggers, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, to the final game of the season.

YANKEE RECRUIT IN MANY TIGHT PLACES

Wilcy Moore Continues to Surprise Critics by Nice Work in Pinches

BY BILLY EVANS

Pitcher Wilcy Moore of the New York Yankees is a big favorite with the Gotham fans.

The Yankees' lineup fairly bristles with oustanding stars, names like Ruth, Pennock, Gehrig, Lazzeri and so down the line and often among them is Wilcy Moore.

At the opening of the American League season, Pitcher Wilcy Moore was given little or no consideration as a regular. If any of the critics had ventured the openion that he would be a valued member of the Yankee pitching staff by the middle of May his sanity would have been questioned.

Yet such a thing has come to pass and it wouldn't surprise me in the least if the unknown Wilcy Moore of 1926 got a fair share of votes in the most valuable player in the American League contest of 1927.

If there is a tougher job than being selected as a pinch hitter with the bases filled, it is getting the assignment of the relief pitcher to stop the pinch hitter.

Since the opening of the season it has been just one tough spot after another for Wilcy Moore and he has seldom failed to make good as proved by his record.

Some years ago the late "Silk" O'Loughlin created much discussion by insisting there were no close decisions, the runner was either out or safe.

Of late years, Bill Guthrie, umpiring in the majors and minors at various times, came forward with about the same sizeup of the so-called critical plays in a game by saying:

"To me they are either 'Dis' or 'Dat'," meaning out or safe. Bill would purposely use the rather ungrammatical expression to make his opinion more forceful.

Recently, when I asked Wilcy Moore, doing his first year in the big show, if he didn't get a lump in his throat occasionally when he was dropped into a tight game with the bases filled, he laconically replied in his peculiar southern drawl:

"Not me. What's the use of worrying? I just say as I walk into the box, well here is where I do or I don't. Maybe I haven't any nerves but it's no strain to me."

Moore is one of those pitchers who depend almost exclusively on a one-style delivery for success. While he dabbles with a curve and is learning a change of pace, his one best bet is his fast ball. It is a most unusual one.

A fast ball, delivered with a side-arm motion and kept low, has enabled Moore to baffle the best batters in the American League. Ernie Shore, for years a member of the Boston Red Sox, is the last pitcher I can recall who used a similar delivery.

Moore's fast ball sinks as it nears the plate, much after the manner of a spitball. The batter usually tops it, driving the ball into the ground for easy rollers to the infield.

Moore tells you a broken arm made him a big league success. That doesn't ring true but the Yankee sensation explains it this way:

It was customary for him to deliver the "sinker" high overhead, using a different delivery than with the rest of his stuff. The broken arm forced him to come down, so that he now pitches all his stuff from the same angle, rather than tipping his fast ball off.

Moore won 20 games and lost four last season in the South Atlantic League, yet all the scouts passed him up. This year he will win 15, possibly 20, in the American. No wonder they sing the blues when he registers a win for the Yankees.

OPEN QUALIFYING PLAY IN WOMAN'S GOLF MEET

Lake Geneva, Wis.—(AP)—Miss Dorothy Page of Madison, champion of the Women's Western golf association led a field of 94 which started play in the qualifying round Monday, over the course of the Lake Geneva Country club.

A new course record confronted the contestants, a 78 made last week in practice rounds by Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, who was runnerup last year to Miss Page. Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, a former Kansas City resident shares the course record with a 78 two weeks ago. Mrs. Horn's best last week was a 79.

All the entrants spent the week-end in practice over the links. Recent rains softened the greens to hold pitch shots although taking a few yards off the roll of long draves.

The field is notable this year for promising youngsters, striving for the laurels of such veterans as Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt of Dallas, the former Elaine Rosenthal, and Mrs. Lee Mida, Mrs. Melvin Jones and Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Chicago.

Among the girls who have proven their fitness are two still in high school, Miss Florence Beebe and Miss Virginia Van Wie, both of Chicago.

PERCH AND BASS ARE PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR

Perch and bass fishing in Lake Winnebago and Lake Butte des Morts is the best in several years, according to reports from fisherman here. Several have attributed this fact to removal of the rough fish from the lakes as has been the practice for several years Formerly these fish killed off the young perch and bass and for years only the old time fisherman could discover the haunts.

Some reports are that perch have been seen in greater numbers this year than ever before with good catches being possible most any place although Lake Butte des Morts has conceded to be the best place to catch the finny beauties.

Like reports have been received about the bass with points near High Cliff picked as the best place to catch them. On old veteran of the rod and reel said that after a rain bass were so plentiful that you could kill them with the oars.

WOMAN TAKES RAP AT POOR SPORTSMANSHIP

Says Men Should Obey Prohibition Laws, Now That We Have Them

Prohibition should be kept out of the presidential election next year and "...n ought to be good enough sports to obey the law they were responsible for passing," in the opinion of Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper of Oshkosh, according to an interview published in a Milwaukee newspaper.

A strong foreign policy for readjustment of troubles through peaceful methods of courts, arbitration and conciliation, instead of "sitting here with arms folded, waiting to be dragged into another war," is advocated by Mrs. Hooper.

IN NEED OF ISSUES

"Nationally, I think the Democratic party has a wonderful opportunity to win in 1928 if it will come out with a few clear-cut issues which are of vital imporantce to the rank and file of the people of this country," said Mrs. Hooper.

"I do not think the wet and dry issue should be brought into the election of a president, as he has nothing to do with it except to enforce the law as it stands. The election of senators and congressmen is what controls the congress on the wet and dry question, and I wish to state here that I am bone dry.

"I do not believe it is possible to repeal the federal amendment and the sooner the country makes up its mind to that fact and the sooner the men, and I wish to emphasize the word men, who passed the federal amendment for prohibition, make up their minds to be good enough sports to obey the law they were responsible for passing, the sooner this country will be able to attend to some of the important matters which are facing it.

MEN DID IT

"The women of the United States had no vote at the time the prohibition amendment was passed. The campaign for that amendment was made by the business men of this country. They furnished the money and the enthusiasm for it. They had found that drinking among their employes was very expensive for them and it was a clean cut business proposition. They passed it to put a stop to drinking among the working men, and then realized it applied to themselves as well.

"The men of this country have bragged a good deal about what wonderfully good sports they were, but if any country in the world has had an exhibition of such poor sportsmanship as the business men of this country have displayed in regard to the eighteenth amendment, I would like to have someone call my attention to it.

"The most tremendous issue this country has to face is what our relations with the rest of the world are going to be. No domestic problem compares in importance with the problem of our foreign relations.

NO FOREIGN POLICY

"We have no foreign policy; we are sitting here with arms folded waiting to be dragged into another war. We are making no attempt whatever to come to an agreement with other countries to settle all troubles which may arise in the future, through peaceful methods of court, arbitration or conciliation.

"The most important thing facing us in the next administration is to elect a president and a senate which will be strong enough to take such action as will put us back on the high plane which we held a number of years ago, as the country which first stood for arbitration among nations.

"I believe we have in the Democratic party at least a half dozen strong, high type men who would make the kind of president we need at this time."

DICTATORSHIP BY DAWES IS LIKELY POLITICAL TREND

Vice President Will Use His Position to Line Up Support for Nomination

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Theoretically, the sessions of the Seventieth Congress ought to be one long series of taxi rides to the Senate chamber for Vice President Charles G. Dawes.

It will be recalled that when the Senate voted on the appointment of Charles Beecher Warren as attorney general, the failure of Dawes to arrive in time to cast the deciding vote resulted in a bitter defeat for the administration.

It's a safe bet that Dawes will break a leg or two before he lets himself in for such an embarrassing incident during the next session, for another occurrence probably would be fatal to the Dawes presidential ambitions. He is a strong candidate for the Republican nomination, but not strong enough to stand up against the ridicule and loss of confidence which would surely follow a late arrival on the job.

LINES IN SENATE

Although, theoretically, Dawes will have to use his privilege of breaking tie votes in the Senate almost every day, on account of the precarious lineup in that body which may result if Smith and Vare are barred, actually he will seldom be required to cast a deciding vote. So many Republicans vote so often with the Democrats and so many Democrats vote so often with the Republicans that hardly anything is ever decided on strict party lines any more. The Dawes vote may be required to help the party organize the Senate at the outset, but it will not be much in demand thereafter.

Nevertheless, the fact that the vice president — assuming that Senator Shipstead plays ball with the Republicans—holds a theoretical balance of power in the next Senate will be bound to enhance the importance and prestige of his position. Dawes himself has never been slow to take advantage of any and all opportunities for such enhancement and he will undoubtedly continue to build up his political fences from his splendid vantage point.

It does no harm to reiterate that, with Vare and Smith out, the Senate lineup will include 46 Republicans, 47 Democrats, and Shipstead, the farmer-laborite.

DUE FOR RAZZING

It seems reasonably certain that Dawes will come in for considerable criticism from the floor during the next session. But most of it will come from the Progressives and the Democrats and thus have little effect upon his chances for nomination.

The Progressives furnish the principal opposition to Dawes within the party. To them he is the rankest of reactionaries. His bold one-man campaign to gag the Senate and his declarations against the direct primaries are examples of Dawes policies which enrage the party liberals. But this bloc, despite its balance of power in the Senate, is not powerful in the party politics. Furthermore, it detests Hoover, would not be satisfied with Lowden and would not endorse any of the men who have the ghost of a chance at the regular nomination.

Although Dawes is personally kindly and sympathetic, he has always been ruthless in public life whenever he had the chance. His propensities in that direction were given full sway when he was director of the budget.

THIRD PARTY HOPES

He more nearly resembles Mussolini than any other man in public life and in this fact may lie his greatest strength. The adulation which many Americans have begun to pay Mussolini within the last year or two may bear fruit in the nomination and election of Dawes as a sort of a modified dictator. Such an inspiration can easily be imagined on the part of conservative business and financial interests, which are forever fearful lest radical legislation interfere with their programs and prerogatives.

If the Republicans nominate Dawes and the Democrats pick a man of similar affiliations—such as Owen D. Young or John W. Davis—there will be a strong possibility of a third ticket backed by many Progressives.

BURGLARS USE GUN TO ROB SHERWOOD STORE

Three men Sunday noon burglarized the soft drink parlor and grocery store of Joseph Wirtz at Sherwood and at the point of a gun escaped with the cash register and a slot machine.

Calumet-co officers notified the local police department and though a watch was kept on roads leading into Appleton, no trace of the burglars was found.

License plates on the car belonged to August H. Schult, 162 Second-ave, Wausau, but police believe the plates stolen from his car as the burglars used a coupe, while Schult has a touring car.

The amount of loot obtained by the burglars has not been determined.

KAUKAUNA BOY KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Kaukauna—William Martzahl, 6-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martzahl was seriously injured at about 6 o'clock Sunday evening in front of the Municipal building when he was struck by a touring car driven by Leonard B[illegible] of Kaukauna. The child was returning with his elder brother from carrying lunch to his father who is employed by the Kaukauna fire department. He started to cross the street but when he saw a car coming from the southside turned back and was struck by the car driven by Mr. Bast. The child was badly cut about the head [illegible] right leg was smashed. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

TREASURER'S WORK IS INCREASED BY NEW LAW

Signature by Gov. Zimmerman of the Smith income tax measure will increase the work of the county treasurer and the district assessor of incomes, according to the provisions of the bill.

Heretoofre, real estate taxes were paid once a year to the local treasurers. Under the new arrangement, the taxes will be paid twice a year—in January ad in June at the office of the county treasurer. Statements must be sent to every taxpayer of the county by the ounty treasurer, under the new law.

FOUR PAY FINES FOR DRINKING TOO HEAVILY

Four drunks paid fines of $10 and costs each Monday morning when they were arraigned and pleaded guilty before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court. The men were:

Carl Dake, 806 W. Franklin-st, arrested Sunday noon by Officer Deltgen, on S. Oneida-st.

Tony Kerscher, 130 W. Fourteenth-st, Kaukauna, arrested shortly after midnight Monday morning on W. North-st by Officers Radtke and Arndt.

Paul Christen, 314 E. Pacific-st, arrested shortly before midnight Sunday on N. Appleton-st by Capt. Vaughn and Officer Deltgen.

Thomas Boyst of Port Washington, arrested Sunday afternoon at the corner of College-ave and Cherry-st by Officers Hersekorn and Deltgen.

EAGLE DRUM CORPS WINS LAVISH PRAISE

Members of the Appleton Eagle drum corps, which marched in the parade of Eagle bands and drum corps during the national convention at Milwaukee last week, were highly commended by national lodge officials and reviewers. The local 30-man organization is said to have presented a neat appearance and a high standard of music.

One of the Milwaukee newspapers in commenting on the appearance of the local men, told of a doctor in the delegation, "carrying a little black instrument bag and evidently expecting a call." Corp members said that a musician who had arrived late had joined the line of march and carried his uniform in a small black case.

BURGLAR ESCAPES IN HAIL OF LEAD

Marauder Gets Away With Safe While Filling Station Owner Fires at Him

Carl Albert's inaccuracy with a pistol early Sunday morning saved the life of a burglar who escaped with a small safe which Mr. Albert kept in his gasoline filling station at the corner of Badger and Wisconsin-aves. The burglar kept the safe.

Mr. Albert was awakened at 2:10 Sunday morning when he heard some one prying open the door of the filling station. He took a pistol and a shotgun and reached the filling station, which is in front of his home, just as the burglar finished tying the safe onto the running board of his car, and started off. Mr. Albert raised the shotgun to fire at the man but the gun clogged and he was forced to use the pistol. He succeeded in hitting the side of the safe with one shot but did not hit the burglar.

The burglar, whom Mr. Albert was not able to describe because of the dimness of the moonlight, drove east on Wisconsin-ave.

There was nothing in the safe.

BIG EXHIBITION OF CANNED GOODS AT SEYMOUR FAIR

Canned goods week will be observed in Seymour from August 22 to 25.

These are the dates of the Seymour Fair and a bewildering assortment of canned fruits, pickles, vegetables and meats on display in the women's department, will be one of the outstanding educational features of the fair.

And what a sight will greet the eyes and tickle the palate. There will be long rows of jars of round-cheeked peaches, shapely pears, delicious strawberries, and red plums, reposing in their rich syrup, so suggestive of the fruit cellar of our childhood days. Plum and apple butter, jams and marmalades of every kind, and glasses of quivering jelly, deep red, purple, and golden yellow, complete the picture.

And in the next booth will be found hundreds of jars of canned vegetables. All of the common garden vegetables, canned by use of latest recipes, will be there. The cold pack method of canning vegetables, indorsed by specialists everywhere, has been used by most of the women and children who have prepared exhibits for the fair.

The fair is making a big feature of women's work this year. Liberal prize money has been set aside for baking, canning and sewing exhibits. Entries will close August 20.

consisting of three men, the original Billy Sunday Elephant, one pony and one dog introducing two complete and distinct acts.
ACT 1: BILLY SUNDAY TRAINED ELEPHANT
ACT 2: BILLY SUNDAY COMEDY CHORUS

FLO JORDAN AND BOYS

Consisting of one young lady and two young men, introducing a new and novel sensational skating act. Full of pep and action from start to finish. The costuming of the act is very beautiful and they carry their own skating mat. This is a unique skating act, combining muscular strength with ease and grace and refined posing. Unexcelled in the whole range of the performance. The trio are exceptionally clever and all in all their performance always proves to be a feature on any bill they are placed.

FOUR MONTFORTS

Neopolitan Quartette consisting of three young ladies and a man with big strong voices, playing the large Piano Accordians and Banjos. They sing all of the latest and popular melodies of the day and also introduce a repertoire of high class selections. This quartette of high class entertainers work with vim and action from start to finish. They are hard workers and will add tone to the Amusement program.

JUNG BROTHERS

In a most convulsing performance of comedy. They are really a little circus in themselves as their exhibitions include rough, but difficult acrobatic, comedy bumps and falls, grotesque gambols and frenzied rivalry in knockabout feats and seemingly impossible daredevil stunts. A pantomime Duo full of action and introduce button-bursting comicalities from start to finish. Their excruciating comedy evolutions were created especially for the entertainment of the ladies and children, as well as the men.

THE ORIGINAL DOBAS

Fearless perch and ladder equilibrists, introducing two complete and distinct acts.

ACT 1: Beautiful posturing by a Duo of Athletes who perform a series of sensational feats with such ease and grace as to seem almost like a beautiful moving picture instead of a performance by living artists.

ACT 2: A marvelous display of perch balancing on high poles. This Duo of Athletic entertainers have toured practically every country on the globe, as well as having been featured at high class vaudeville theatres and with traveling circuses. They perform seemingly impossible feats while being balanced at the top of a high pole and the swaying bamboo perch.
